News from City Hall

by Julie Kessler, Clerk-Treasurer, City of Cumberland

On Thursday, September 14 at 7:00 pm, the City will hold the second public meeting to gather information to help complete the update of the Comprehensive Plan.

From the first public meeting, we gathered the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats to the City. Committee meetings were held to discuss the opportunities and work on strategies and tactics.

The Planning Commission has worked with West Central Wisconsin Regional Planning on strengthening our mission statements and where we want this plan to take us.

Now we want your input on how to implement these ideas. The meeting will be held in the Middle School Commons and everyone is welcome to come and help shape the future of the City of Cumberland.

Any questions, can be directed to Julie Kessler, Clerk-Treasurer at 715-822-2752 or clerk@cityofcumberland.net.

A hayride will again be held at 3:30 p.m. The annual fund raising raffle will conclude the weekend's events.

Back by popular demand is the Dunk Tank both Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Follow Barronett Civic Club on Facebook for specific times and "famous" faces.

Property issues once again top agenda at September City Council meeting

This month's City Council meeting, held on Tuesday, September 5th, suffered from a slight case of deja vu, as once again, property issues were the main event for the evening - and they were mostly the same properties.

First, the council passed a Resolution for the issuance of a General Obligation Promissory Note for the financing of the TID #7 project (8th Ave.) in the amount of $1,060,000.

Next they held a public hearing on, and approved the rezoning of, the recently annexed property on Hwy. 48 from T-1 to commercial zoning.

The third property issue resolved by the council involved the sale of a small portion of City owned land to Martin Schramski. The amount sold (8 ft.) will be enough to make sure that the Schramski property setback requirements are met, while resolving the dispute discussed at last month's meeting.

In other matters, the council brought back to the table from last month the approval of an agreement with Wisconsin Technology Networking for Cell Tower placement. The issues with the contract language were explained/resolved and the agreement was approved.

Before adjourning to a closed session to discuss personnel/employment issues, Mayor Bert Skinner took a moment to recognize the passing of one of Cumberland's oldest citizens, Grace Schell. He commended her for her years of community service and involvement. Her presence will be missed.

The next regularly scheduled council meeting will be held on October 3rd at 7:00 p.m.

Barron Electric Linemen Assisting with Power Restoration in Florida

Barron Electric Cooperative linemen T.J. Romsos and Kyle Rose, both Barron natives, are helping restore electricity after powerful Hurricane Irma.

They will be assisting Clay Electric Cooperative in North Central Florida. Clay Electric serves 170,000 members; and as of this Monday, 130,000 or 75% of their membership were without power. Wisconsin electric cooperatives have sent 50 linemen to help. More than 750 electric cooperative line crews from 25 states are providing assistance.

Barron Electric General Manager Dallas Sloan said, "These linemen have worked a tornado and 70 mph wind storm in our service territory this year, and now they will be assisting with power restoration after Hurricane Irma, certainly a year they will never forget. We had no trouble finding volunteers from our line crews; this is a once in a lifetime opportunity for them. At least, we hope only once." He remarked, "This isn't the first time we've helped electric cooperatives in the south. Twelve years ago, Barron Electric sent crews to Hurricane Katrina in Louisiana." Close to six million people are without power in Florida.

Barron Electric line crews attend monthly safety meetings. "Our main priority is that all of our crews come home safe every day," commented Nate Steines, Director of Operations.

Barron Electric linemen Kyle Rose and T.J. Romsos are helping with power restoration in North Central Florida.

Northwoods Notebook: Another summer of fun in God's Country

By Larry Werner

Where did it go? Summer, that is.

How many times have you heard someone ask that question?

The three months between Memorial Day and Labor Day sped by in a flash, as they always do. The navigation buoys at the sand bar on Beaver Dam have been removed, people are beginning to pull their docks to shore and Tim Twait of Indianhead Sport Shop is busy picking up pontoons to store for winter.

After hosting our kids, grandkids and a niece's family over the Labor Day weekend, Ann and I sat in our living room once the last of them left, exhausted after a weekend of cooking for 15, but a bit sad that our fourth summer in Cumberland has come to a close.

The rain on Labor Day Saturday made things a little close inside, with seven kids under 10 and eight adults. But Sunday was a spectacular day with lots of sun and a high in the 80s.

Because my daughter's in-laws – Roger and Barb Wistrick – not only live on the lake but have all the lake toys (speedboat, swimming raft, paddleboat and jet ski), we spent that spectacular Sunday over there.

Son-in-law Dan Wistrick took the little ones for rides on the jet ski while the older folks got sun on the dock. The grandkids have great fun swimming out to the raft and jumping into water that was a bit cold, but not too cold for them.

Ann and I left the party at "Grandpa Roger's" to prepare a meal at our place of Louie's Finer Brats, expecting the gang would show up shortly before dark, having soaked up all the sun time they could this last day on the lake. But we got a call from Dan that "everyone was getting tired," and they headed back to our place earlier than we expected.

They had been up late Friday, when everyone arrived, then stayed up late Saturday, singing to my son's karaoke machine. After a long day playing outdoors on a sunny Sunday, it was time to wrap it up.

After the brats were eaten Sunday evening and the cars were packed, we said our goodbyes. Waiting for them back home in the Cities was Labor Day itself, a day for picking up and packing school supplies into backpacks, getting the kids to bed early, before the start of classes on Tuesday.

It was a glorious summer in this place that has become our home, the place the grandkids love to visit in a town where we have been creating memories that will sustain us through a Cumberland fall, winter and spring – until blessed summer comes again.

Cumberland woman says "yes" to proposal at Packer game

GREEN BAY -- Another NFL football season means tailgating is back for the next several months and for one local couple, it means the beginning of the rest of their lives.

"She said yes, so I got a happy day for me," Kyle Lewandowski of Thorp said of his now fiancée, Emily Anderson of Cumberland. And it happened right outside of Lambeau Field: the perfect location for this couple.

"We had both of our families come up and tailgate for the Packer game," Lewandowski said. "I guess about a week ago, I was like, 'Hey! I suppose it's about time to pop the question to this beaut right here.'"

"Emphasis on the 'finally' popped the question," Anderson joked about the engagement since the couple has been together for close to three years.

But why the location? Because you probably won't find another couple, or family, that are this big of Packers fans. It couldn't have worked out any better.

"A lot of people said, 'Why don't you make this a personal moment? You're celebrating your love for each other.' We're the kind of couple; we have a big family," Lewandowski said. "We like to be with our family. We just like to be around friends and family."

EYE FACTS
Why Does My Eye Twitch?
Eye twitching, triggered by muscle spasms in an eyelid, is common. Usually only the lower lid of one eye is involved, but the upper eyelid also can twitch. Most eye twitches come and go, but sometimes a twitching eye can last for weeks/months.
Strange, but true, some causes for a twitching eyelid are Stress, Fatigue, Eye Strain, Caffeine, Alcohol, Dry Eyes, Junk Food and/or Allergies.
If relaxing, watching your diet or eye drops don't help, give us a call to make sure it isn't vision or eye health-related.

What Exactly Is Astigmatism?
Astigmatism is a common vision condition that causes blurred vision. An irregularly shaped cornea or lens prevents light from focusing properly on the retina, the light-sensitive surface at the back of the eye. As a result, vision becomes blurred at any distance. This can lead to eye discomfort and headaches.
Most people have some degree of astigmatism. Slight astigmatism usually doesn't affect vision or require treatment.
Astigmatism frequently occurs with other vision conditions like myopia (nearsightedness) and hyperopia (farsightedness). Together these vision conditions are referred to as refractive errors because they affect how the eyes bend or "refract" light.
The specific cause of astigmatism is unknown. It can be hereditary and is usually present from birth. It can decrease or increase over time.

Opinion

Guest Opinion: Fighting for Free Speech by Ed Feulner

As a new academic year gets underway on many campuses, it's a good time to ask: What's the purpose of school? Is it education, or indoctrination?

More and more, sadly, it's the latter. We like to think of our universities in picturesque terms -- bastions of open learning and scholarly debate where one pursues truth, no matter where the search may lead. But while this Norman Rockwell vision may have been an exaggeration in years past, today it's sheer fantasy on many campuses.

Those who dare to air a view that flouts the politically correct line on hot-button topics such as race, marriage and immigration are virtually taking their lives into their hands. They aren't met with spirited disagreement. No, they're shouted down. They're threatened. They're attacked, both verbally and physically, by shrieking mobs.

Debate is out. Denigration is in.

It's not just the violent protests that have erupted at, say, the University of California at Berkeley over Ann Coulter and Ben Shapiro that should concern us. It's the growing list of speakers who are uninvited. It's the professors who censor themselves to avoid the wrath of the PC thugs.

"Students are being silenced as well," writes Rep. Jim Jordan (R-Ohio). "What sometimes starts with 'trigger warnings' and 'safe spaces' evolves into Oregon University establishing a 'bias response team' where students are encouraged to report anything that makes them uncomfortable, in order that the university may start an investigation and attempt to 'eliminate' the controversial topic."

With good reason does Jordan label this "Orwellian."

The problem has grown so bad that last fall, John Ellison, dean of students at the University of Chicago, felt it necessary to write a letter to incoming freshmen -- a letter putting them on notice that the school was bucking the trend.

"Our commitment to academic freedom means that we do not support so-called trigger warnings, we do not cancel invited speakers because their topics might prove controversial and we do not condone the creation of intellectual safe spaces where individuals can retreat from ideas and perspectives at odds with their own," Ellison wrote.

Imagine -- a major university reaffirming a commitment to academic freedom. But that's the state of so-called "higher education" today, when many colleges have become little more than outrageously overpriced daycare centers.

The real travesty is how ill-equipped these students will be to defend their beliefs once they've exited the warm confines of their protective bubbles. Steeped in these rabidly PC environments, they resemble not trained thinkers, but hothouse orchids unable to withstand the cold breeze of opposition.

This represents a complete inversion of the original purpose of a university. "The function of education is to teach one to think intensively and to think critically," Martin Luther King, Jr. once wrote. The stifling, choking cloud of political correctness that envelops so many schools today, however, turns students not into independent, well-trained thinkers, but into sponges who mindlessly absorb whatever propaganda they're fed.

And the ramifications of this state of affairs stretch beyond the university. Ultimately, they affect all of us. "When universities suppress speech, they not only damage freedom today, they establish and push norms harmful to democracy going forward," writes Sen. Chuck Grassley (R-Iowa). "These restrictions may cause and exacerbate the political polarization that is so widely lamented in our society." So if you've deplored the violent protests that have cropped up in the last month or so, know that our universities have played a role in fostering such intolerance.

Hats off, then, to Princeton professor Robbie George, and Harvard professor Cornel West, who recently put their differences aside to issue a helpful joint statement. "All of us should seek respectfully to engage with people who challenge our views," they write. "And we should oppose efforts to silence those with whom we disagree."

Let's hope more college officials join those who have begun to question the Left's death grip on academia -- and fight to restore free speech to our nation's campuses.

As Foxconn debate in Legislature nears close, here are a few oft-asked questions

MADISON, Wis. — The debate over state incentives to land the Foxconn Technology Group in Wisconsin will likely wrap up soon, with the Wisconsin Legislature expected to vote by mid-September. Here are some of the questions being asked as a decision nears:

- The state incentive package would be $3-billion over 15 years. What guarantees will be put into place to ensure Foxconn invests the $10 billion and creates the 13,000 jobs it has planned?

- Unlike some states that rely more on "clawbacks" after they have spent taxpayer dollars, Wisconsin takes a "pay-as-you-grow" approach to economic incentive packages. If Foxconn spends $3 billion and creates 3,000 jobs, the amount of state tax credits would be commensurate -- and retroactive. Foxconn must part with money to get some of it back in the form of tax credits, which are based on economic activity that otherwise wouldn't happen.

- Clawbacks are still important, however. How would they be initiated and enforced?

A clawback is a provision in an economic development agreement that requires a company to repay any financial benefit gained for which it did not meet certain performance thresholds, such as job targets or capital investment levels. These provisions are most often included in contracts negotiated between governments and companies. Concurrent to the legislative debate, the Wisconsin Economic Development Corp. is drafting a contract that is expected to be completed by Sept. 30.

- OK, but who watches the contract writers and makes sure that document is being enforced?

An amendment to the Foxconn package by the state Senate would give the Legislative Audit Bureau, an arm of the Legislature, the ability to audit contract compliance each year. The Senate has also included language that would more strongly tie Foxconn's projected capital investments to job creation estimates.

- This deal seems to have been, in no small part, a product of the evolving friendship between Gov. Scott Walker and Foxconn founder and chairman Terry Gou. What happens if one or the other of those leaders ride into the sunset?

State negotiators are keenly aware that Gou turns 67 in early October and won't work forever, even if his energy levels are legendary. However, the depth of the Foxconn management team engaged in the Wisconsin project -- combined with investments already made or poised to happen -- make a reversal highly unlikely. Foxconn wants to build North America's first liquid crystal display plant in Wisconsin, a decision driven from the board of directors' level on down. As for Walker, he's all but certain to run for re-election in 2018 and won't turn his back on a deal he started. His opponents will make doubly sure of that. Walker's chief deputies on this deal, Administration Secretary Scott Neitzel and WEDC Secretary Mark Hogan, also remain in place.

- I'm uneasy with the notion that governments compete for industry, foreign or domestic. Is Wisconsin getting on a treadmill it can't stop?

Economic competition among nations, states and communities is nothing new. What's new is that Wisconsin is finally getting better at it after years of not showing up on the radar screens of site selectors. The Foxconn deal is one of several national competitions under way right now, with Amazon announcing it will build a second headquarters and Toyota-Mazda looking to open a new U.S. assembly plant. Look for at least 20 states and cities to compete for one or both deals.

- Why is it that so many Democrats seem opposed to the Foxconn deal and most Republicans are supportive? Isn't job creation a bipartisan goal?

Some Democratic lawmakers would doubt Walker if he said the sun rises in the east, and it didn't help their mood that President Trump took credit for the deal. However, the 2016 Democratic Party platform called for "fostering a manufacturing renaissance," pursuing an innovation agenda and creating jobs for young people. A Foxconn presence in Wisconsin, with an entirely new industry and a statewide supply chain, could help meet all three goals. Most Republicans support the deal, but not all. For example, Americans for Prosperity -- a group backed by Charles and David Koch -- has come out against it.

If the Legislature passes the Foxconn package, the real work begins. Republicans and Democrats alike will need to ensure tax dollars are spent wisely and Wisconsin doesn't mess up this chance to rebrand the state economy for decades to come.

With the filing of the defendants reply memorandum on September 5th, the last shot in the round has been fired and Circuit Court Judge Edward Brunner will issue his ruling in a few weeks in the State of Wisconsin versus Joseph Schultz. The case, better known as the Island Bar case, has dominated the local headlines since 1993. The City of Cumberland has attempted to stop the Island Bar from presenting nude dancing since 1993. The issue first came to a head in 1994 when the City took away the liquor license from Schultz. He, however, began to serve only soft drinks and continue on with the nude dancers. There were two raids, one on November 1, 1996, where one dancer and four patrons were charged with misdemeanors, and a second on February 7, 1997, when three dancers were arrested and several patrons were questioned. On March 11, 1997 Barron County District Attorney James Babler filed a summons and complaint which asked Judge Brunner to declare the Island Bar a nuisance and asked the court to close the bar for one year.

Daniel J. Swessel, 33, of Cameron, has been charged with possession with intent to deliver methamphetamine, felony bail jumping, (failure to comply with the terms of his bond by committing a new crime), three counts of possession of drug paraphernalia, and operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, 1st.

The criminal complaint states that on Friday, September 1, 2017, at approximately 2:41 a.m. Barron County Deputy Wolfe was on routine patrol when he observed a vehicle stopped half in the lane of travel and half on the shoulder of 17th Avenue just west of the intersection of 19th Street. Deputy Wolfe pulled up behind the vehicle, and waited for approximately 30-45 seconds and the vehicle did not move. He ran the registration of the vehicle, which came back to Daniel Swessel. At that time Deputy Wolfe activated the emergency lights on his vehicle, as the vehicle stopped in the roadway had not moved.

As Deputy Wolfe approached the vehicle, he observed the driver's side window was heavily tinted and he was unable to see into the vehicle. However, the back driver's side window was rolled down approximately two to three inches and he was able to see inside. He observed a lone male subject who appeared to be passed out in the driver's seat. He was able to gain the attention of the driver, but when he did so the driver took his foot off the brake, accelerated for a short period of time and then slammed the brakes on again.

Deputy Wolfe made contact with the operator of the vehicle. As he opened his driver's door, Deputy Wolfe observed a glass pipe roll off the driver's lap onto the floor. Deputy Wolfe believed that was a methamphetamine pipe.

In speaking with Swessel Deputy Wolfe observed that he appeared to be heavily impaired by what he suspected to be methamphetamine. When he asked Swessel where he was, Swessel indicated he thought he was somewhere between Cameron and Chetek, when he was approximately two miles south of the City of Rice Lake.

Deputy Weise arrived on scene and conducted field sobriety tests on Swessel. After administering the tests, Deputy Weise asked Swessel when the last time it was that he had smoked, and reminded him there was a meth pipe found in his lap when he got out of the vehicle. Swessel indicated he had smoked earlier in the day. When asked if he had consumed alcohol, he answered that he had not. Swessel failed the walk and turn field sobriety test.

Swessel was arrested by Deputy Weise for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of a controlled substance. Deputy Wolfe conducted a search of Swessel's vehicle due to the methamphetamine pipe that he had observed earlier. As he searched the center counsel he observed a plastic container, which contained what he believed to be a large amount of methamphetamine. He also located a digital scale inside the plastic container and approximately 60 Ziploc style plastic baggies, that are commonly used in the distribution of controlled substances. He did a field test sample of the substance he believed to be methamphetamine and obtained a positive test result for the presence of methamphetamine. Approximately $1,000 was also found on Swessel.

Barron County Investigator Hagen weighed the substance that Deputy Wolfe seized from Swessel's vehicle and obtained a total weight of 50.41 g. If convicted Swessel may be fined not more than $111,800.00 or imprisoned for not more than 47 years and six months, or both. His driver's license may also be suspended for not more than 20 years. His preliminary hearing will be held September 18, 2017.

Basil G. Hopp, 31, of Barron, has been charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, 2nd, operating a motor vehicle with a prohibited alcohol concentration, 2nd, and criminal damage to property.

According to the criminal complaint, on Saturday, July 22, 2017, at approximately 11:10 p.m. the Barron County Sheriff's Department advised Officer Dexter of the Barron Police Department that they received a call from the Jennie-O Turkey Store, reporting someone had crashed a car into the front of the building.

When Officer Dexter arrived he spoke with the security guard, who advised he checked on the driver of the vehicle and the driver said he was fine. The security guard advised the driver had been drinking and previously worked there.

Officer Dexter observed a silver Taurus crashed into the building so that the front half of the vehicle was inside through the bricks and the rear end was sticking out of the building. Officer Dexter recognized the vehicle belonging to Basil G. Hopp.

Earlier in the day, at approximately 7:05 p.m., Officer Dexter had received a call from Hopp stating that he was depressed. Officer Dexter met with Hopp at his residence and noticed he was intoxicated. At that time Officer Dexter administered a preliminary breath test and the reported value was .172. Officer Dexter had the crisis line evaluate Hopp and determined he was able to stay home. Officer Dexter left the residence at approximately 8:30 p.m.

Officer Dexter asked Hopp what happened. Hopp said he rammed into the building to get the attention of his former supervisor and ex-girlfriend who were both working there today. Hopp said he quit working there today. As Hopp spoke, Officer Dexter noticed his speech as slow and slurred. Hopp admitted to consuming approximately five mixed drinks at the bar after speaking with Officer Dexter earlier in the evening.

Hopp as taken by ambulance to the Barron Hospital due to the severity of the crash. A sample of Hopp's blood was taken and the reported value was .189. Hopp was placed under arrest for operating while under the influence.

If convicted Hopp may be fined not more than $12,200 or imprisoned for not more than one year and nine months or both. His driver's license shall also be suspended for not more than two years. His hearing is scheduled for November 22, 2017.

Beavers Offense Continues to Roll in Big Victory at Chetek

The Beavers offense continued to put up big numbers, as the team moved to 3 and 1 on the season with a 50-30 victory over Chetek-Weyerhaeuser in HON action last Friday night in Chetek. Cumberland will now ready for a home contest against the Bloomer Blackhaws this Friday in Endeavor Stadium. Game time is 7:00 pm.

The Beavers rolled to a 20-8 halftime lead and put the game away with 18 points in the fourth quarter. The offense was led by the long distance passing of Kobe Berghammer, while the defense helped salt things away with four interceptions, including two they returned for touchdowns.

Berhammer had another big night from his quarterback position with five touchdown passes, giving him 19 in the seasons first four games. He hit Senior Max Narges with three of his scoring passes, while Reid Olson and Andrew Barnes caught one each. Berghammer finished the contest, completing 26 of 36 throws for 340 yards, with Narges catching six balls for 63 yards and his three scores. Barnes had five receptions for 71 yards, Olson caught four balls for 45 yards, Steven Hanson had eight receptions for 80 yards, and Riley Bodsberg added three receptions for another 71 yards. It was a balanced passing attack.

The Beavers added another 89 yards rushing in 23 attempts. Bodsberg was the leading ball carrier with 54 yards in his 14 carries. "I thought our offensive line had a nice night," said Coach Corey Berghammer.

On defense, Cumberland created five turnovers, with Narges and Olson both returning interceptions for touchdowns. Berghammer added a pair of picks to help the Beavers withstand an excellent rushing night by the Bulldogs Danial Chuchwar, who rushed for 259 yards and two scores. "Our kids kept answering the bell. Every time C/W got within a score we didn't flinch, we just kept playing together and making plays," said Coach Berghammer.

Senior Alex Ricci had a big night on defense for Cumberland, with four tackles behind the line of scrimmage, three of which were quarterback sacks. Olson, Hanson, and Trystin Neitzel added seven tackles each.

The game Friday night will come against the 4 and 0 Blackhaws, who are coming off a big 30-16 win over Northwestern. The winner will take over first place, be it early in the season, in the Conference standings.

Soccer Team Drops Two Close Games

The Cumberland Soccer Team dropped a pair of close contests last week, losing to Unity-St. Croix Falls 4-3 and Osceola 2-1. The team is at home this Thursday against Somerset in a contest starting at 4:30 pm.

The Beavers jumped to an early lead at Unity when Erik Sandman and Tanner Johnson both scored in the first half. They would later take a 3-1 lead, when Lukas Bruehal added a direct kick goal after the halftime break. Unfortunately, the Eagles would come back to score three unanswered tallies and take the victory. The winning goal came with just five seconds left in the contest.

Two days later, the Beavers traveled to Osceola for a conference contest and would see the Chieftans score first on a penalty kick two minutes into the contest. Trailing 1-0 at intermission, the Beavers would tie up the match eight minutes into second half, when Erik Sandman scored his fifth goal of the season off a nice pass from Lukas Bruehal. Again a late goal, with two minutes left in the game, would lead to a narrow defeat.

"We are not consistently capitalizing on scoring goals and leaving opportunities for the opposing teams to stay in the contest. We'll hope to change that this week" Coach Larry Ruetz stated.

The Beavers JV also played a game at Unity, playing to a 1-1 tie.

Golfers at Solon Springs

By Coach Carroll Schell

Thursday the girls traveled to Solon Springs for the Northwestern Invitational which was played at Hidden Greens Golf Course. There were nine teams at the invite, where Cumberland finished sixth.

Winning the match with an eighteen hole team score of 420 was host Northwestern. Other team scores were Ladysmith 442, Hayward 464, Barron, 470, Superior 479, Cumberland 502, Luck/Unity 525, Flambeau 528, and Chetek/Weyerhaeuser 600.

Medalist for the match, with a score of 87, was Emily Neff of Hayward. Medalist for Cumberland was Autumn Donatell with 120. Other individual scores were Emma Erickson 124, Madison Pease 125, Kristin Bajak 133 and Julia Grant 135.

Cumberland's next matches were at Northwestern on Tuesday and will be at Luck/Unity on Thursday.

Volleyball loses match to Barron

The Cumberland Volleyball Team hosted Barron last Thursday, falling to their Southern Neighbors 25-17, 25-17, and 25-7. "We hadn't played in 12 days so we started out a little slow and unfortunately never really recovered. We battled, but Barron was just a little too much for us," said Coach Jessica Olson.

Hannah Delzer and Adreanna Johnson led Cumberland with 100 percent serving, while Kiya Talbot had three kills. "Overall, we didn't serve or hit the ball very well much of the night," added Coach Olson.

Cumberland has a busy week on tap, having played at Glenwood City on Monday and Hayward on Tuesday, before hosting Northwestern this Thursday night. Next Monday, and Tuesday, September 18 and 19, the Red and White also have home matches, hosting Webster and then and Chetek-Weyerhaeuser.

Cross Country Team Runs in Bloomer

The Cumberland Cross Country team traveled to Bloomer last week, where they participated along with eight other teams in the Blackhaws Invitational. Durand won the Boys competition, while Hayward took the Girls portion of the event. The Cumberland Girls, meanwhile, finished sixth, while the Boys finished seventh overall.

The top finisher for the Beavers Boys was Zach Hullander, who was 19th overall with a 19:27. Bloomer's Alex Conrad took first with a time of 17:46. The Beavers Logan Steglich finished 33rd with a run of 21:02, while Raven Broker was 36th with a time of 21:34.

The leading Cumberland girls runner was Teagan Benson, who was 13th with a run of 24:06. "She has had a nice season," said Coach Tanya Majewski. Emily Freagon of Bloomer was Medalist with a time of 20:20.

Other girl runners included Naomi Rodriguez, who was 22nd at 25:32 and Kate Stone, who was 31st with a time of 26:21.

This week, Cumberland runs at Chetek in a meet starting at 4:30 pm on Thursday.

Two Pups and a Teal Hunt

Hello friends,

When my stepson, Travis Dushek, was six-years-old, I took him on several duck hunts both in a canoe and field hunting. Travis never had a problem getting up long before the sun and no matter what the weather conditions were, he loved waterfowl hunting.

On every hunt my golden retrievers at the time, Star and Pearl, were with us and that instilled a love for hunting dogs in Travis that brings us to this week's story.

Friday, September 1st
High 70, low 52

Travis, Pat Lindemann, Hannah Lindemann, myself and Devon Wood are camping at Call of the Wild Campground on Buffalo Lake near Packwaukee. Call of the Wild is owned and operated by my good friend, Meta Peacock and I have to tell you I love the lodge, the laid back environment and the incredible view of the marshy Buffalo Lake which is fed by the Fox River.

I canoed the entire Fox in April of '92 and a month later I participated in a carp shoot that Meta was hosting her first spring here at Call of the Wild. I used a canoe and filled my canoe with carp.

Back to the hunt, Travis and Devon have been scouting this piece of water and were confident we would have some good shooting for the first 2 days of the seven day teal season.

I watched day become night from my canoe last night out on the marsh and saw lots of woodies and mallards but no teal, later in the night we had a very good time around the campfire.

This morning, Devon would be hunting out of a canoe as would I. Travis would be hunting in his latest watercraft purchase which is a 1754 Excel that is pushed by 36 hsp Prodrive. Simple terms, a very nice flat bottom boat pushed by an awesome mud motor.

The real story on this two-day hunt is that Travis and I would be taking our golden retrievers Ash and Ruby on their first solo hunts. Ruby and Ash are sisters, their mother is my golden Fire and Ash is Travis's first dog.

To describe Ruby and Ash is kind of like saying two high strung, very smart, can't hurt 'em, love the water and feathers in their mouths dogs.

So the season opens at 9:00 but we are on the water at 5:00 because Early Goose season opened at about daylight.

Nothing is happening so I took a snooze and kind of noticed that I was not seeing any teal before the snooze.

At 8:00, I started watching the skies again and was aware of the fact that there was zero shots in the area for geese but lots of woodies and mallards in the air.

At 9:00, I was ready for action and at noon was yet to see a teal and Devin as well as Travis had not fired their guns either.

At noon Travis and Hannah trailored Trav's rig and headed over to another marsh to see if they might have some better luck. I did some exploring by canoe and was using a very large and heavy rig that did not want to maneuver through the cattails or lily pads at all. I ended up doing a lot of wading in water that was belly button to chest deep. At days end after probably 40 combined man hours of hunting not a bird had been harvested.

Let me tell you about these two pups, they are both going to be incredible hunters. There dad is a field trial champion multiple times over and they have kryptonite flowing in their veins, they notice everything, swim through anything and last night and late tonight were wrestling as they always do on land and in water.

On Saturday morning and I am sure Trav's motorized acquisition helped. Travis dropped three bluewing teal. The first bird was a simple retrieve. The second was a blind double and Ash was flawless.

Sleep was at a minimal on this adventure, very few shots were fired but it sure was fun and once again proves my theory that if you take your kids on outdoor adventures when they are kids, they will hang out with you when they are adults.

Ash and Travis Dushek with Ash's first ducks that she retrieved.

Middle School Football Hosts Scrimmage

The Cumberland Middle School Football Team hosted a scrimmage last Thursday between Ladysmith, Barron, and themselves.

The scrimmage helped prepare the team for its opener, which was held Tuesday night at Clear Lake.

"The 8th grade football team put on a dominating defensive performance, while the 7th grade did well in their first competition," said Coach Bill McCreary.

Although no official score was kept, Maddox Allen led the 8th grade with passing touchdowns to Gavin Jarchow and Drew Griffith and ran in two scores himself. Blake Siebert added one scoring run and Jay Green two more. "These scores came thanks to the guys on the line, especially Connor Morrison," said Coach McCreary.

Defensively, inebacker Isaac Runstrom made multiple tackles for losses and recovered a fumble, while Griffith and Elijah Tetner made a number of nice defensive plays. Allen also scored on an interception return.

For the 7th grade, Eddie Chafer scored on a 35-yard touchdown run, while Jax Effertz and Nic Kasper also scored on the ground. The coaches also credited Garret Craine, Dylan Capra, and Donovan Ehman with good defensive efforts.

Barronett News By Judy Pieper

Imagine a drum roll here-it's finally here. This is Color Fest weekend in Barronett. The fun starts with supper prepared by civic club members on Friday evening at 5:00 p.m. The walk/run will be held that same evening. Then, during the weekend, we have a craft fair and farmer's market, men's slow pitch softball tournament, garden tractor pull, scavenger hunt, bean bag tournament, carnival games, best scarecrow contest, hayrides, a dunk tank game, the cooking contest (which features squash this year), the list goes on and on. Of course the women of Barronett Lutheran will be hosting the pie and ice cream social on Saturday and Sunday until we run out of pie. (To the elusive Barronett mystery couple, I will be baking peach pies again this year. Hope you will be in to try a piece). And, on Sunday morning at 9:00 Barronett Lutheran will hold the worship service at the community center.

The one thing I want to be sure everyone comes for is the kiddy parade. I get to organize the parade again this year and I'm hoping it will be even bigger than last year. You don't have to pre-register your little ones, just bring them to the community center by 11:15 so they will be ready to march or ride or jump on pogo sticks or skate or whatever by 11:30. This year I will have candy for the kids to throw to the spectators and helium filled balloons. Please bring any little ones you can find and make this year's parade spectacular.

Congratulations go out to Jenö and Chrissy Herman, who were married on Saturday, September 9th, at their home in Timberland. It was a perfect day for an outdoor wedding, and the bride was positively radiant in her beautiful white gown. (The groom looked pretty nice too, but no one ever pays attention to the guy at these things). Chrissy's daughter, Melody, and Jenö's daughter, Lily, were lovely in pretty blue bridesmaid's dresses. The reception was also held outside and was catered by Bistro 63 of course. There were lots and lots of family members and friends attending to help Jenö, Chrissy, Melody and Lily celebrate. We had a wonderful time listening to music, eating the delicious food and visiting with other guests. We wish many years of happiness to the new Herman family.

Congratulations also go out to Gary and Leah (Riebe) McWilliams, who were married on Saturday, September 9th. Pastor Todd said that it was a beautiful wedding and that the church was full of family and friends helping the happy couple celebrate. The reception was held at the community center, and Pastor Todd said that was also very well attended, nearly filled to capacity with well wishers. We wish you years and years of happiness, Gary and Leah.

Terry Goodrich, aka "The Friendly Neighborhood Moocher" stopped by Sunday evening with a bear hunting story. It goes like this: Bear hunting had started last Wednesday and the hound hunters got to go first this time. Anyone who thinks it's easy or a sure thing has never done it. Bear hunters that use hounds are very proud of their dogs and here is a good example.

The group was getting ready in the wee hours of the morning and a car pulled up and the driver said, "I just hit something on the road. It was big and black and it could have been a cow or a bear. I don't know which."

The group went to the place where it happened and saw the skid marks from the tires and saw the blood. A farm was nearby and they checked with the farmer. His cows were all there, so they went back to the skid marks. Well, one of them took his lead hound out of the truck and took it to the skid marks. His hound opened with a blare, and he said, "It's a bear!" The rest of the hounds were quiet.

So, into the woods goes the hound, doing a great job of sounding off. The owner was following the blood on the ground. The hound was hot on the trail. The hound's owner radioed back, "The bear must be hurt bad. It tried to climb a tree-I see claw marks. It couldn't get up so it must be hurt bad."

So two of the men go in and one has a gun. The one with the gun sees something big and black moving. (He uses one of the laws in safe gun handling, "be sure of your target and beyond.") No, it's not a cow, it's a bull! The bull is not in bad shape, but the owner of the hound got razzed all that day and the next that he didn't have a hound, he had a border collie.

Thanks for the story Terry, and now, please give that poor hound owner a little peace.

Our family had a fantastic time at Treeland Resort up by Hayward Labor Day weekend. Sue Meier, our cousin from Monroe, was with us, and almost all the kids, grandkids and great grandkids were able to join us. We had so much fun it should have almost been illegal. We went kayaking, paddle boat riding, sat around a bonfire telling ghost stories with the little ones, cooked out and, of course, had our annual volleyball games. I'm not going to tell you who won the tournament, but I will say that Ryan Lehmann's team was, once again this year, not number one.

I have to tell you about the most exciting thing that happened in Treeland this year. Mike, a friend of Timille's, was sitting out on the pier after everyone else had gone into the cabins for the night. He was sitting very quietly, enjoying the cool weather and maybe thinking deep thoughts. Suddenly a bony hand grabbed his leg. He panicked, swung his arms around to knock it off, and was hit in the face several times by huge wings. Well, what happened was a blue heron had mistaken him for a roost and landed on his leg. I don't know which one was startled more, Mike when the bony hand grabbed him or the heron when his roost started flailing about.

I guess that's about it from Barronett this week. Please join us for the Color Fest and bring your little ones for the parade. See you there.

"Wages or Free Gifts?"

By: Rev. Ellery Groth
Grace Lutheran Church, Clayton

For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord
Romans 6:23

We all know the difference between wages and gifts. Wages are the reward for our labor. We earn our wages by doing something. We often ask the question, "What am I going to be paid for doing this job?" We also know about gifts. A gift is freely given to us. It is not earned. Most often a gift is an expression of how much somebody loves us.

Each of us has a decision to make. Do you want to receive eternal salvation based on what you have earned as wages, or do you want it as God's free gift? It's an important decision, so think carefully before you answer.

Let's pretend God is standing at the pearly gates when you die. You hand him your "time card," the things you have done on this earth. God looks at it and hands you back what looks like a paycheck. You look at it and written across the check is the word DEATH. You cannot earn eternal life. Trying hard is not enough. Being good is not enough. God's minimum standard is perfection, no sin whatsoever. Anything less than perfection earns eternal death.

My personal choice is to receive eternal salvation as God's free gift. Instead of relying on what I must do, I will rely on what Jesus has done for me. He has lived the perfect life that I never could. He suffered the pains of hell for me so that I would never have to experience them. The gift of eternal life is given as an expression of God's love for us. It took great love for Jesus to come to earth and give up His life for us. Don't try to earn your salvation, rely upon Jesus and receive God's gift of eternal life.

Cumberland Healthcare prepares you for 2017-2018 flu season.

Cumberland Healthcare would like to remind you to schedule your annual influenza vaccination. The best way to keep you and your loved ones healthy this influenza season is vaccination. Influenza is a respiratory illness which is easily spread person to person in the air and on surfaces. Influenza is not nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea as many people also call this viral illness "the flu."

Cumberland Healthcare will begin offering influenza vaccinations the beginning of October. There is controversy about the offering of influenza vaccinations earlier in the season as the vaccine becomes available. However, the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices recommends health care facilities begin offering the vaccine in late October. As the season goes on the immunity starts to fade especially in elderly and chronically ill individuals.

Getting the immunization early in the season can leave you without immunity for later season. In our Community last year our peak was in March. Nationally influenza activity is seen starting in January 74% of the time and February 59% of the time according to the Centers for Disease Control since the 1982-1983 influenza season. Influenza vaccination is recommended for anyone older than six months old without contraindications, especially the very young, very old, chronically ill, and pregnant women. Discuss the timing of your influenza vaccination with your primary care provider to decide what would be best for you.
