Scam Alert: Cumberland Fire District does not need your help!

The Cumberland Fire District has been inundated with phone calls and emails offering their help after people from around the country received emails, supposedly from the Fire District Chief Barry Kuenkel, asking for "assistance."

While the Fire District always welcomes community support and donations, Chief Kuenkel wants you to know that, in this instance, they are NOT asking for it! It seems the Fire District's computer address file has been hacked.

If you have received such an email, do not respond! Receivers of the emails will note that the "respond to" email address is not the same as the "sent from" address. The fraudulent emails seem to originate from the correct Fire District email, but if you respond, the email goes to the hackers account. This could open your computer's files to the hackers, as well.

Cumberland Police Chief Rick Rieper asks that you print out a copy of the email and either mail it in or bring it down to the Police Station at City Hall and they will use it to help track down the hackers.

Once again, Chief Kuenkel thanks the community for all they do to support the Fire District. Be sure they will be asking for your help again in the future, just not by email!

Community members asked to partner together to better the health of Barron County Community members are invited to join area health care providers to identify and explore the top health concerns in Barron County on Wednesday, Sept. 26 at the Barron County Government Center, 335 E. Monroe Ave., Barron. Two sessions will be offered: 9 a.m. to noon and 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The meetings will consist of brief presentations on the progress of the three current health focus areas: alcohol, tobacco and other drug abuse; mental health and chronic disease; as well as a report on the current health needs of Barron County. The report will include the results of the recent community health needs assessment survey, completed by 838 county residents.

The forum will allow participants to become more informed and will give citizens an opportunity to voice their concerns about issues. The main objective of this day is to share and brainstorm ideas for improvement of the three health focus areas for Barron County to concentrate on for the next three to five years.

"We need the help of our communities. Whether you are a doctor, a farmer, a retired person, or a student, you have important opinions and information on the health of our community" states Laura Sauve, Barron County Program Manager/Health Officer. "We are asking a wide variety of people to attend."

The Barron County Health Department has joined forces with other

Barron County healthcare providers to collect data for the 2018 health needs assessment. The health assessment creates a community-wide health improvement plan based on data such as illness, injury and death rates, community opinions and community resources. Amery Regional Medical Center, Barron County Aging & Disability Resource Center, Cumberland Healthcare, Mayo Clinic Health System, and Marshfield Clinic Health System, have been actively working together with Barron County Public Health to plan the project. Public health departments and non-profit hospitals in every county, throughout the country, are required to complete health improvement plans every three to five years using community input.

"We are very fortunate and excited to be partnering with the health care providers in Barron County," Sauve states. "This partnership has already created some great collaboration. We are now looking to our community members for some in-depth discussion on what our county needs to concentrate on going forward."

If you are interested in being a part of this county-wide project please plan on attending the community meetings on Sept. 26. A light meal is included and reservations are appreciated. Please register by email at: health@co.barron.wi.us or call (715) 537-5691 ext. 6442.

Back to School!

Northwoods Notebook: I understand why they keep coming back by Larry Werner

Like so many of you, we had guests from the Twin Cities visiting over Rutabaga Festival weekend. After spending time at the sidewalk sale and the food stands, we took a boat ride, attended the Ole and Lena play at the arts center and, on Sunday morning, went to mass at St. Anthony's.

After mass, while standing in front of the church talking to John and Kathy Epple, a woman walked down the church steps and approached my friend, Charlie, who was visiting from Minneapolis with his wife, Cathy.

"Remember me?" the woman asked Charlie.

Turns out she was another one of what I call the "Cumberland Homing Pigeons." She had grown up in Cumberland, lived for many years in the Twin Cities, where she got to know Charlie, and now had returned to The Island City with her husband to live their retirement on Beaver Dam Lake.

Charlie and Cathy visited us with another friend, Maureen. Ann and I know these three from the church in south Minneapolis where Ann and I met 24 years ago, where we were married 23 years ago. We've met Charlie, Cathy and Maureen, but few others in this large parish know us by name – not even the pastor, I'm sorry to say.

But when we attend the little church in Cumberland, there are a number of folks who recognize us and call us by name: The Epples, the Cohens, the Peichels, the Thorps and Sharon Herman, to name just a few. And that familiarity exists out in the community, where I can't walk through town, or eat at a local restaurant, without hearing someone call my name.

When we were out on the lake, in fact, we passed a boat that had been pulling water skiers. Since it was a Saturday, I was paying attention to the busy weekend lake traffic and didn't notice who was in that ski boat.

"Someone said, 'Larry

Werner,'" Charlie shouted from the back of my pontoon. It was Abby Geisler, owner of The Turn restaurant at the Cumberland Golf Club, recognizing me and calling out a hello from the helm of her boat.

Abby, like Charlie's friend at church, has decided Cumberland is a better place to live than in the Cities, where she is part-owner of another restaurant. She spent summers here when she was young and has a cabin on Beaver Dam. She's sold her house in the Cities and is living the Island Life.

Why?

Life is not only easier in a small town, it's friendlier. People not only know your name, but speak it when they see you. I sometimes wonder if that always mattered to me – being recognized and greeted. Probably not.

For so many years, we ran the rat race trying to make a living, trying to get ahead, sometimes succeeding. We raised our kids, raced to their soccer games and school plays, and took a few weeks' vacation each year to get away from all that.

Then we retired, and we realized that the people who have been living next door might not know who we are. The professional rat race might be over, and the kids might be gone, but there's still the hassle of city life. During Baga Fest, I came to understand once more why I enjoy living in a town of 2,000.

It's good for the local businesses that so many people were walking the streets during our festival, and so many cars were parked up and down the streets of town. But I bet you, like I, found the days after the festival a relief from the crowds and the noise.

We got back to life in a place where there are few people on the streets and sidewalks. But the ones who are there know who you are and, more important, care.

Opinion

Labor Day is now gone, the Minnesota State Fair is finished and another Rutabaga Festival is over. Nothing left, I guess, but looking forward to another northern long, cold winter. Not so fast! For me, the best part of the year is just ahead - Fall! The season with crisp mornings, warm days and cool, wonderful sleeping weather. I won't miss this past summers high humidity. The older I get, the harder it is to breath when the air gets heavy with humidity. Sharon just reminded me that summer will come again and I hope that I am in good physical condition to enjoy it. I promise, I won't complain about the heat and humidity. I do, however, look forward to the brilliant colors of fall. I just hope the weather remains "gentle" until Thanksgiving.

I watched the memorial services, held last week, for Senator John McCain. There were many parts, of each of the services, that touched me. However, the most emotional for me, was the stopping, of the procession, at the Viet Nam Memorial to lay a wreath. In death, McCain did not forget his buddies that served in America's most unpopular war. That was a moment that really touched me. He was a remarkable man. One that will not soon be replaced.

SEE YOU NEXT WEEK!

I Want My Monthly Dividend Check

To The Editor:

I want my monthly dividend check. "What check?", you ask. The check that will be coming your way each month when the US Congress passes Citizens' Climate Lobby's Carbon Fee and Dividend proposal. This legislation will put a steadily rising price on carbon pollution from burning fossil fuels and return the money to each American household monthly.

Besides putting money in your pocket that will offset rising energy costs, other benefits include: a transparent price signal so we can have a just transition to renewable energy; a balanced and simple distribution, using existing treasury systems ; creation of millions of good jobs as research, innovations, and increased demands for carbon-free energy and goods take off; decline in health care costs from carbon pollution as CO2 levels drop. In addition, a tax will be placed on products imported from countries that do not have a carbon tax of their own.

This will discourage American companies from moving overseas and encourage our trading partners to pass their own tax.

More good news: studies show that the dividend will result in 2/3 of households breaking even or coming out ahead, protecting low and middle-income families the most.

For more information on this revenue neutral, market driven, family-friendly, conservative approach for transitioning to renewable energy, go to: www.citizen-sclimatelobby.org/basics-carbon-fee-dividend/ While you are there, you can also calculate the impact of Carbon Fee and Dividend on your budget by clicking on 'Estimate my Impact'. Then call our 7th District Rep. Sean Duffy @ 1-202-225-3365 and tell him to support Citizens' Climate Lobby's Carbon Fee and Dividend because you want your dividend check!

As Wisconsin's corporate 'new kid,' Foxconn motivating right playmates

MILWAUKEE, Wis.- At the lakeside unveiling of a $100-million corporate venture fund, the chairman of the Foxconn Technology Group said he was pleased, as the "new kid on the block," to be a part of a team that included Advocate Aurora, Johnson Controls and Northwestern Mutual.

The truth be known, Foxconn founder Terry Gou and his team of "new kids" are pushing the older crowd to do more.

Wisconsin and especially the Milwaukee region have always boasted a cadre of national and global companies. Few of those companies, however, have elected to invest in the venture capital asset class most likely to spark young companies.

It took the arrival of Foxconn, the world's leading contract manufacturer of consumer electronics, to open more homegrown corporate eyes to taking on more risk by making technology investments at home and abroad.

The $100-million fund announced at Discovery World in Milwaukee won't be bound by geography – few private venture funds are restricted in that way – and it can be expected to invest in strong tech deals in the region, the United States and beyond.

Still, the nature of venture capital is the same everywhere: Many investors prefer to invest closer to home because they can better watch over their own deals, providing advice, management help and money as the company grows.

Wisconsin's existing Badger Fund of Funds is a different model for several reasons, starting with state government's decision some years ago to invest on the same basic terms as private investors. That state investment means the Badger Fund of Funds is confined to Wisconsin companies, or young out-of-state companies it can persuade to move here.

The Badger Fund is also built to target the youngest companies, many at the "seed stage," versus the full range of investments the Wisconsin Valley Venture Fund could take on.

Both models can work together. The Wisconsin Valley fund will eventually help many of Wisconsin's existing funds and angel networks by providing another potential partner. It remains to be seen exactly how the Foxconn-led fund will be structured, however, and whether it will invest only directly in companies or through other funds, as well. Many observers would prefer the latter because existing funds provide experienced feet on the ground.

The Foxconn-led fund was one of two major announcements within two days, the first being its plan to invest $100-million in the UW-Madison College of Engineering for interdisciplinary research. The university will match that amount over time.

There have been grumbles for years that not enough Wisconsin companies have invested in the state's academic research and development partners, sometimes turning to other major universities first for their research needs.

Foxconn, the "new kid," is sticking close to its new home as it partners with UW System schools, tech colleges and private universities. Ideally, UW-Madison and other campuses should attract private partners on a regular basis – a phenomenon to be welcomed, not scorned.

Both developments have been criticized by those who still don't believe Foxconn will be a permanent fixture in Wisconsin or that the company is merely recycling state tax credits to pay for other endeavors.

Combined with previous announcements about opening innovation centers in Green Bay and Eau Claire; the creation of a statewide "smart cities" competition for college and university students, faculty and staff; and the construction of the massive Racine County plant itself with almost all Wisconsin contractors; it's hard to characterize Foxconn as a hobo passing through the state.

State tax credits won't be paid until there is economic activity to justify them, as spelled out by the state contract. That activity will be measured by jobs created and dollars invested on a schedule that all policymakers will closely monitor.

Wisconsin's "new kid" is still an outsider to some who don't think the cost is worth making the state economy more globally connected and tech-savvy. That view may change as the company and its investments produce jobs and opportunities that help keep young people at home.

Still is president of the Wisconsin Technology Council. He is the former associate editor of the Wisconsin State Journal.

Garrett W. Garvin, 34, of Cumberland, has been charged with misdemeanor bail jumping, (violation of the absolute sobriety provision of the bail/bond in Burnett County).

The criminal complaint states that on August 27, 2018, at approximately 10:00 p.m. Turtle Lake Police Officer Wood was called to the casino to take a report of an intoxicated driver that wanted to turn herself in after crashing while drinking and driving.

Office Wood met with the security staff, who escorted him to the casino dispatch room. Officer Wood made contact with Lorena Benjamin who stated she was driving her car southbound on US Highway 63 between Cumberland and Turtle Lake while intoxicated and crashed the car into a ditch. She had marks on the shin area of her legs that appeared to be fresh, which she indicated was still causing her pain.

Officer Wood asked her how much alcohol she had to drink and how long ago. She said she drank about half a jug of vodka and that she started drinking vodka that morning and had been drinking all day.

Officer Wood asked her if she hit anything when she crashed the car. Benjamin stated she drove the car into the ditch near Comstock on US Highway 63, and that she may have hit some driveways, but did not hit any trees, mailboxes or the structures. Officer Wood asked if she was alone or if someone was in the vehicle with her. She stated that her boyfriend was in the vehicle with her.

Officer Wood asked where her car was parked, and she took him to the parking lot. Officer Wood noticed the vehicle had a fair amount of damage to it, but that it was difficult to distinguish what was fresh damage.

Garvin was sitting in the passenger seat of the vehicle when they arrived. Garvin was lethargic and moved slowly. Officer Wood could detect a strong odor of alcohol coming from his person. His speech was slow and slurred. Officer Wood asked Garvin if he was with Benjamin on the way to the present location during the crash, and Garvin said he was, but that he could not remember where the crash took place. Garvin admitted to drinking that day, but said he had not drunk much. Officer Wood was informed by dispatch that Garvin was out on bond with a condition of absolute sobriety.

Officer Wood conducted field sobriety testing with Benjamin, which she was unable to complete. He asked if she would take a preliminary breath test, and she agreed. The test yielded a result of .094.

Officer Wood observed what he suspected to be a marijuana cigarette in the center console of the vehicle. Benjamin said it was hers. She said she smoked marijuana earlier that day, probably around 1:00 or 2:00 p.m.

If convicted Benjamin may be fined not more than $2,100 or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both. Her drivers license will also be revoked for not more than six years and six months, or both. Her hearing will be held October 17, 2018.

If convicted Garvin may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than nine months. His hearing will be held October 17, 2018.

4-H Foundation and Musky Clubs Alliance license plates are now available

The Wisconsin Department of Transportation (WisDOT) Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) is accepting orders for two new specialty-license plates: Wisconsin 4-H Foundation and Musky Clubs Alliance.

Purchasing these plates include the $15 issuance fee for non-personalized plates and an additional $25 tax-deductible donation, which is also required at each renewal. Funds generated from these plates go toward each organization's goals. 4-H Foundation donations will go toward the 4-H Youth Development program. Not only can Wisconsin motorists have specialty license plates, the plates can be personalized. A $15 personalized plate fee is required each year in addition to the regular annual registration fee. A handy online tool checks whether the personalization is already in use (Personalized Plate Lookup <https://wisconsin-dot.gov/Pages/online-srvcs/other-servs/pp-search.aspx>). It can take four to six weeks for the manufacturing and mailing process before the plates arrive.

DHS urges people to stop using synthetic cannabinoids

Eight More Cases of Severe Bleeding and Hospitalizations Due to "Fake Weed" in Wisconsin

Wisconsin continues to see cases of severe bleeding following the use of synthetic cannabinoids, often called "fake weed," "K2," and "spice." The bleeding occurs as these products contain rat poison (brodifacoum). Overall, Wisconsin has seen 54 cases since March of this year, with 40 confirmed and 14 probable. Counties with confirmed cases include Dane, Milwaukee, Outagamie, and Rock.

"There have been eight new cases in the last two weeks," said State Health Officer Karen McKeown. "We strongly urge people to stop using these drugs. If you or someone you know has a serious reaction to synthetic cannabinoids, call 911 or go to the emergency department right away."

Even if you are not bleeding, see a doctor if you have used synthetic cannabinoids. You may be at risk for bleeding as this product can stay in your system for months.

Synthetic cannabinoid products are not legal in Wisconsin. The health effects from using them can be unpredictable, harmful, and even life threatening. These products are created by spraying chemicals on dried plant material to be inhaled in tobacco products like e-cigarettes or other vaping devices.

DATCP Scam Alert: Fake Utility Calls

Imposter scammers are posing as a local utility company in order to demand money for supposed late payments or required upgrades. Wisconsin residents should be on the lookout for threatening calls about their gas or electric accounts and hang up on anyone who demands an immediate payment on behalf of the local utility provider.

The Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection's (DATCP) Consumer Protection Hotline has received more than two dozen reports in the last 24 hours from Wisconsin Public Service (WPS) customers about these phony calls. The crooks threaten call recipients with disconnection of services unless an immediate payment is made, and some of the scammers mentioned a work order number, truck number, and phone number to make their story seem more legitimate. One caller reported being threatened with bodily harm.

While most of these recent reports to DATCP have been about contacts from fake WPS representatives, DATCP has also received reports about imposter WE Energies calls. This scam is very common and con artists will claim to work for whatever utility company services the area they are targeting. Regardless of your utility provider, if you receive a similar threatening call about your home or business utility account, hang up and do not engage the caller.

Avoid being tricked by remembering these simple guidelines:

- Utility companies will contact you by mail if your account is overdue. They may also call you if your services are at risk of being terminated, but will NEVER demand immediate payment over the phone.

- If a caller demands a utility payment by prepaid debit card, gift card, or wire transfer, it is a scam.

- Scammers can manipulate your caller ID display to show the local utility company's name or number when they call.

- Contact your utility provider directly using information from your billing statement to inquire about the status of your account and to report the call.

For additional information or to file a complaint, visit the Consumer Protection Bureau at <http://datcp.wi.gov>, send an e-mail to datcp hotline@wi.gov, or call the Consumer Protection Hotline toll-free at 1-800-422-7128.

Volleyball Team Opens HON Action This Week

The Cumberland Volleyball Team went 1 and 3 in non-conference action last week as they saw their overall record go to 9 and 9 on the season. They open up HON play this Thursday, with a trip to Bloomer, while traveling to Boyceville next Monday night for another non-conference triangular.

Cumberland opened up last week with a trip to Elk Mound, where they dropped contests to St. Croix Central, Eau Claire Regis and Elk Mound. We didn't win any matches but we competed and know what things we need to work on. We struggled serving and passing and that really hurt us, said Coach Jessica Olson. Payton Nyhus had six Kills on the night, while Ania Hyatt added three blocks and Kiya Talbot had two service aces.

The team then came home to take on South Shore on Wednesday, where they picked up the victory. "We came out and played very well and didn't let up the whole night. We gave a great team effort and passed and served well. Ania Hyatt had a dominating evening picking up a career-high 19 kills," added Olson.

Lauren Green added nine kills, Izzy West had 27 assists, and Kiya Talbot was 29 for 29 serving with three aces.

Beavers Fall to Northwestern 48-20

The Cumberland Beavers were outscored 48-20 by the Northwestern Tigers in the HON football opener at Endeavor Stadium last Friday night. With the defeat, the Beavers overall record fell to 1 and 2 with a trip to Barron on the docket for this Friday night.

"Offensively we played fairly well, scoring three times and getting stopped without scoring on two different possessions inside the 10-yard line," said Coach Corey Berghammer. That included a lost fumble on the Tigers one-yard line on the last play of the first half.

"Defensively, however, Northwestern is a very strong, fast, and talented team and we just couldn't create any turnovers or get enough stops," added Berghammer.

The Tigers rolled to a 28-6 halftime bulge thanks largely to their running back Reagan Ruffi, who would score three first half touchdowns, five in the game. Ruffi, a UM-Duluth recruit, would rush for 244 yards in the contest on only 18 attempts. Overall, the Tigers would not complete a pass, but would control the game with a running attack that would put up 482 yards in 42 rushes for over 11 yards a carry.

The Beavers, meanwhile, received a nice effort from quarterback Reid Olson, who completed 20 passes in 33 attempts for 231 yards and two scores. Both touchdown completions came on short tosses, one to Andrew Barnes and the other to Riley Bodsberg.

Olsons favorite target on this night was Sophomore Jack Martens, whose excellent effort included 11

receptions for 133 yards. Martens would add 44 yards rushing on only five attempts.

Bodsberg would add five receptions and 37 yards rushing to the Beavers offense and return the second half kickoff 98-yards for another score. Olson meanwhile, added 60 yards rushing in six attempts, giving Cumberland 374 total yards of offense.

"We lost to a very good team. We are going to stay positive and fix the things we can and keep getting better each day," said Berghammer. Northwestern joins Bloomer as the leagues co-favorites for this fall.

This week, the Beavers take on Barron, who two weeks ago broke a 34-game losing streak, which took place over four years. Cumberland will look to get back on the winning trail against the Bears in the 7:00 pm start.

CC Runs at Hammond

The Cumberland Cross Country Team traveled to Hammond last Thursday, where they ran in the St. Croix Central Invitational. The home team Panthers took first in both the male and female runs, while the Beavers took 12th out of 12 teams in the girls race and 13th out of 13 in the boys run.

For the boys, Sophomore Wayne Ankarlo finished a Cumberland team best 67th, with a time of 22:10. Junior Evan Knutson finished 70th with a time of 22:54 and Senior Nick Hermann was 84th with a time of 25:41. Durands Isaac Wegner had the winning run with a 16:47.

Rainy Weather Slows Lady Golfers

Bad weather caused cancellation of two golf matches this week. The match at Spooner on Monday and a second makeup date for Barron on Tuesday. Both will be made up later. Barron the first nine holes of the Hidden Greens Invite on Thursday and Spooner on Friday.

The only match played this week was on Thursday at Frederic. Northwestern, Luck-Unity, Cumberland and Flambeau competed. Winning the match with a nine hole score of 216 was Northwestern, followed by Cumberland 218, Luck-Unity 226 and Falmbeau. Medalist for the match was Kirernan Smith (Northwestern) with a score of 42. Cumberland's Emma Erickson was second with a score of 46. Other individual scores for Cumberland were Autumn Donatell 54, Maddy Pease and Alleah Anderson both with 59's, Kaia Johnson 67, and Carly Friess 73.

The Return of the Minutemen

Hello friends,
I did a six-year enlistment in the Wisconsin Air National Guard back in 1981 to 87. I was a member of the 128th Tactical Fighter Wing out of Truax Field. It has been 31-years since my enlistment ended but each year about a dozen of us get together the weekend before Labor Day and have a friendly musky fishing outing.

I joined this party back in 2000, and slowly integrated many of my deer camp members and some of their good friends from the Poynette area.

This year 38 very fun people would join together to fish the Eagle River chain of lakes and most of us would stay at the Eagle River Inn.

Saturday, August 25th
High 72, low 48

The last few years we fished on the Chippewa flowage where we also had lots of fun. I am almost embarrassed to say that until this trip I had never fished the Eagle River chain of lakes.

So last night many of us stayed up and had lots of fun and laughed a lot, I have to admit that I was mildly intimidated when my 26-year-old nephew Trent Schuster asked me if I would like to have an any species, longest fish side bet for 5 bucks, I had to take the bet.

Later in the evening I was visiting with Trent and his dad, Dick Schuster and his brother Riley, my brother Mike and my stepson Joey Dushek. Trent was being disrespectful from his cot and somehow the next thing you know his cot was upside down and we all laughed.

So this morning most of our gang put in at a boat landing a ways a way from our motel but my partner Jeff Neitzel and I put in at a landing close to camp. A little history on Jeff and I, we were both bomb loaders. I was always trying to keep Jeff out of trouble, and oh by the way we really suck in this tournament.

So anyways, we are not fishing two minutes and Jeff "almost" catches a 22-inch northern pike. There is a side bet for gators that pays out to 3rd place but no worries for us as it has been years since Jeff and I caught a fish in this tournament.

Anyways, I saw a fish and Jeff had a musky experience. Next we started trolling up the river and I am dragging a Matlock which is a lure that imitates and is the same size as an 18-inch walleye. We were trolling maybe ten minutes and I hooked into a really big fish, that naturally got away.

Joey Dushek and Trent had some great success, at least Joey did when he caught a beautiful 43-inch musky and as we spent the day talking with our friends as we came across them a lot of people were catching musky, but very few people were catching northern pike.

An hour or so before dark Jeff and I went casting for gators and I caught a 26-incher, which is not big but would end up getting us 2nd place in the side bet.

I almost forgot that Trent caught NOTHING and paid me in front of all 38 of our gang.

Joey's musky would take first place for Joey and Trent, and let me tell you I was so impressed with the Eagle River chain and the people on it that I kept thinking I might have to move here.

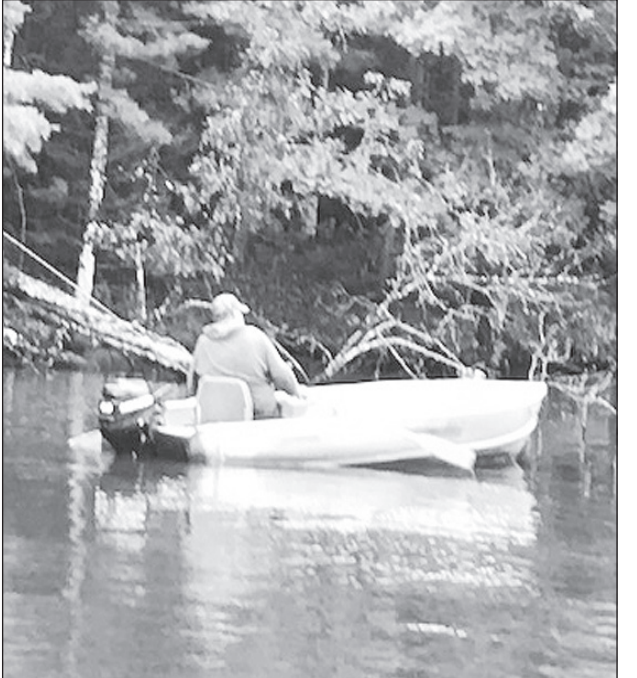

Against my advice several of the guys made me stay up late on the second night as well and I have to tell you The Minute Man Tournament for this group of guys is like deer camp, duck camp, and any other annual outdoor adventure, you just can't miss it.

Always respect the military, without it you might be speaking German, Russian or Japanese!

The Eagle River Chain is a great place to spend time.

BARRONETT NEWS

By Judy Pieper

I hope you had a great Labor Day weekend. Because of the holiday, the deadline for news was Friday this week, so I don't have the details of anyone's weekend festivities, but I hope you were able to just relax and put your feet up for a few hours anyway.

Our family has been going to Treeland Resort by Hayward for Labor Day for the past twenty something years. There is something there to keep everyone busy all day-volleyball, tennis, kayaking, fishing and, in case of inclement weather, there is always the game room. Duane and my wedding anniversary usually falls during that time too, so we celebrate with the whole family. One of my favorite anniversaries was the year he completely forgot about it and, at the last minute, went to the bait shop and bought me a Mepps bass bait. It has been fun holding that over his head. We're celebrating our 27th anniversary this year, our marriage date was 9/1/91. Twenty-seven wonderful years. I must say, I am a lucky woman.

John Schmidt's daughter, Angela, came to visit him from Colorado during the Rutabaga Fest. Duane and I had breakfast with them at the Red Brick on Thursday, and it was so nice to meet her. She is such an interesting, out-going woman that we felt we had known her for years. We enjoyed our visit with her very much.

On Friday, John and Angela drove to Neenah to attend the wedding of Johns' niece. Then on Saturday and Sunday they spent time at the Rutabaga Fest. She flew back to Centennial on Monday after a very enjoyable visit with her dad.

Peg Thompson called with a few more details of the trip to Canada that she would like to share with you. On the last day of their trip, Peg and Rita visited Fundy Bay, which has the highest tides in the world. The tide comes in every thirteen hours and is almost 40 feet high. Peg said that there was a book in their loft apartment with the times of the high and low tides so they would be forewarned if the tide was coming in.

She also said that she had no idea until she went to Halifax how connected that city is to the Titanic. The Titanic sunk on April 15, 1912 and Halifax had the first two boats on the scene of the disaster to recover bodies. They picked up over 100 bodies, and they are buried in Halifax. Their grave sites are designed to resemble the hull of a ship. There were three churches in Halifax that held the funerals, and one is a round building that was just one block from the loft apartment they were staying in.

One very sad note, one of the first bodies they found was of a two-year-old boy. He could not be identified, and his marker read "unknown boy. However, in 2015 DNA testing was done on his remains and it was discovered that his name was Sidney Leslie Goodwin and that he was from Wisconsin. His marker has been changed so that everyone who sees it now knows that he was Sidney Leslie Goodwin, and many relatives from Wisconsin have been to Halifax and visited his grave.

It sounds as though Peg and Rita enjoyed every minute of that trip to Canada, doesn't it?

Do you remember that last week I told you Kat Perkins was at Bistro 63, and that I had e-mailed her to find out if she enjoyed her visit to our town? Well, I really thought she would be much too busy to answer, but the very next morning there was a reply from her. She said that Barronett reminded her of the small town in North Dakota where she grew up. Then she went on to say how wonderful Bistro 63 is. In fact, I'm going to share that part of her e-mail with you word for word. Here it is-The Bistro was AMAZING! I started off with a dirty martini and it was perfectly made-so tasty! Then I had the delightful pork chop entree! Oh my goodness- I LOVE pork chops, but that was a whole new level! It melted in my mouth! The Parmesan risotto was to die for! I usually don't have dessert, but I was in the mood to treat myself, so I got the bananas foster. I ate the whole thing! I cannot wait to pass thru again and stop at the Bistro! It's my new favorite place! The service was great and you can't beat the homemade truffles to top your meal off. Thank you!"

I was very glad that she took time from her busy schedule to reply to my e-mail, and I'm sure that Sharon, Jenö, Chrissy and the crew at Bistro are very happy that she enjoyed her meal and visit to their place so much.

Now I have to stir the pot a little. Remember when I told you that little Kane Thon was so impressed with his visit to the fire station in Range that he had decided to be a fireman when he grows up? Well, naturally I couldn't keep it a secret from his policeman daddy that he had decided that he wanted to join his fireman cousins department. Do you think that went over well? Garrett's comment was, and I detected just a tad of sarcasm, that's great. Then he can get paid for sitting around doing nothing. Not going to work, buddy. Apple River Fire Department guys are volunteer firemen, so they only get paid when they are at a fire or rescue. Hopefully I can get a comment from fire chief Alec to keep the pot boiling.

That's about all I know from Barronett this week. Enjoy the beautiful fall weather. See you next time.

Richard L. Lammers

Richard Lawrence "Dick" Lammers, 77, of Clear Lake was surrounded by loved ones when his Heavenly Father called him home Saturday, September 1, 2018 at his home. He was born July 27, 1941 in Cumberland to Raphael and Alice (Clark) Lammers.

Dick worked at 3M Company for eight years, then they moved to Prairie du Sac, where he worked 10 years for Schwann's before venturing out on the road as a long haul trucker. He retired in 2007, and he moved to Clear Lake.

The most important thing in the world to Dick was his family. He enjoyed Canada fishing trips with his brothers, deer hunting, playing cards, pitching horse shoes, and his dog, Wilbur and Oscar the cat. He will be remembered as a hard working family man, and dearly missed by those who knew him.

He is survived by his wife, Judy of Clear Lake; their children: Lori (Geoff) Schaaf of Burnsville, MN, Lisa Morey of Brenham, TX, Linda (Mike) Mittenzwei of Prairie du Sac and Rick Lammers of Green Cove Springs, FL; eight grandchildren: Erica, Aaron, Sierra, Sasha, Rene, Abbie, Cory and Madison; 18 great grandchildren; siblings: Donald (Carol) Lammers of Cumberland, Duane (Catherine) Lammers of Cumberland, Sharon (Gary) Danielson of Rice Lake, Elaine (Richard) Borgen of Rice Lake, Kay Kurschner (Charles) Lammers of Rice Lake, William (JoAnn) Lammers of Huntsville, AL, Bruce (Cindy) Lammers of Rice Lake and Robert (Jennifer) Lammers of Rice Lake; many nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends. Jenga Life

By: Pastor Gary Dorn
Cumberland Baptist Church

Do you ever feel like you are a Jenga game? Pieces of your life keep getting pulled out of place and stacked precariously until it feels like everything will come tumbling down! Sometimes we feel like one more thing...and we are going to fall apart!

God understands. More than that, God is working out His perfect plan and it even includes the "pulling things apart" and the restacking things precariously. Romans 8:28 assures us,

And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love Him, who have been called according to His purpose.

God does have a plan! But it is even more than this! God is not some distant, diabolical, uncaring entity working His disinterested will regardless of the consequences. God is a "hands-on" God! He not only works all things for the good of those who love Him, in Jesus Christ, He is holding all of the pieces together. Colossians 1:15-17 says of Jesus,

The Son is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn over all creation. For in Him all things were created: things in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or powers or rulers or authorities; all things have been created through Him and for Him. He is before all things, and in Him all things hold together.

Sometimes we may feel like a huge Jenga game, but we can rest in God's perfect plan...and in Jesus' loving hands holding all things together. Let those truths give you confidence to face each day!

LETTERS...

Congressman Duffy & Climate Change

To the Editor:

Except for occasionally noting that it's colder in our part of the world this week or that month (erroneously conflating weather with climate), it appears Representative Sean Duffy (WI - 7th District)) does not have a definitive position on the issue of climate change. I recently asked a home office aide if Congressman Duffy has a formal policy on this issue. The aide took the time to check Mr. Duffy's website for anything posted on the subject. Finding nothing, the aide said he would refer the question on. Mr. Duffy did send a written response that did not directly answer my question; indeed did not contain the words "climate change." It was a boilerplate language letter, identical to his response to other constituents regarding environmental issues.

Written positions aside, actions speak louder than words. The League of Conservation Voters "National Environmental Score Card" assigned Congressman Duffy a congressional career score of two percent, based on his voting record on environmental issues. That is, of his (235) environment related votes, he voted to weaken environmental protection, or opposed major legislation promoting: clean air, clean water, energy conservation and efficiency, fish and wildlife conservation, etc.

In letters to constituents, Mr. Duffy says he believes "environmental conservation is important..., [but] must be balanced with economic development..." Any analyses of Mr. Duffy's environmental voting record, including on climate change issues, indicate he does not have a balanced record. He votes against the environment 98 percent of the time. We need a Congressional representative who takes the issues of climate change and environmental protection seriously. Clearly, that person is not Mr. Duffy.

Living in Victory Group

Have you ever wondered why you have an unexpected strong response to what another person says or does? It may make you angry or sad and you have no idea why.

Come join the Living in Victory group that meets at the Cumberland Baptist Church every Thursday at 6:30 p.m. Starting September 13th. We will learn how our childhood culture or young adulthood set us up to form the core life beliefs we have about ourself, others, or God based on our past life experiences. We will discuss how those beliefs affect how we respond to our current life experiences.

The cost is $5.00 for the material you will receive at the fist meeting on Thursday, September 13th.

Northwoods Notebook: ...

Ann's been dealing with back problems for a couple weeks. I can't tell you how many times in those weeks someone in Cumberland has asked how she's doing.

These are reasons why people like Charlie's friend convinced her husband to move to Cumberland in retirement. And Julie Burma got her husband, Lance, to do the same. And Linda Bavier got John to retire here and join the board of the Beaver Dam Lake Management District and the Island City Co-Op. I could go on.

People are nice here. And life is good.

"Gee, Larry," Charlie's wife, Cathy, said as we cruised the lake on a beautiful Saturday afternoon, "I just don't understand why you like it here so much," she joked.

That was right before Abby called out my name: a simple greeting and an affirmation that the choice we made to buy a home in Cumberland was one of the best decisions we've ever made.

Daughters of the American Revolution Topic at Genealogy Society September Meeting

The Blue Hills Genealogical Society invites the public to its free September 10 meeting. Georgia Smith, State Historian for the Wisconsin Daughters of the American Revolution, will present a program on the DAR, what it is, how to join, and how to use its resources in genealogy research.

The September 10 meeting will be held at the Barron Senior Center, 12 N. 3rd St., Barron, with hospitality at 6:30 and program at 7:00 p.m.

The DAR, founded in 1890 and headquartered in Washington, D.C., is a non-profit, non-political volunteer women's service organization dedicated to promoting patriotism, preserving American history, and securing America's future through better education for children. Wisconsin Society Daughters of the American Revolution (WS-DAR) works to advance the ideals of patriotism, historic preservation, and education.

The Blue Hills Genealogical Society maintains a Resource Library of materials of genealogical value on onetime residents of Barron County. The Library is free and open to the public Mondays 2:00-5:00 p.m. and is located at 410 E. LaSalle, Suite C; use the back door to the building to access the Library.

"As part of our continuing resource collection, we encourage anyone who has an ancestor that lived in Barron County by 1871 to apply for our Pioneer Certificate," reminded Society president Gloria Dobberfuhl. "Of if your ancestor resided in Barron County by 1918, you can apply for our Century Certificate." Details for these applications are found on our website at www.bhgsbc.org or by calling Certificate Chair Linda Adams at 715-205-2860. Applications for 2018 certificates must be made by October 1, 2018 to Linda Adams.

If you would like to join the Blue Hills Genealogical Society, you may do so online at www.bhgsbc.org, at a monthly meeting, or at the Resource Library.

Eau Claire man arrested for 4th OWI

On Sunday, Sept. 2nd, 2018, at 2:56 p.m. a Wisconsin State Trooper assisted the Washburn County Sheriffs Office with a crash investigation on US Highway 53 and County Road E. Joshua L. Reneson, 38, of Eau Claire, was transported to a local hospital for treatment of non-life threatening injuries.

A subsequent investigation by the State Trooper shows that Reneson was operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. It was his fourth offense. A legal blood draw was completed at the hospital.

The crash remains under investigation by the Washburn County Sheriffs Office.

"Pursuant to the direction of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, as found in Supreme Court Rule 20:3.6, Trial Publicity, you are advised that a charge is merely an accusation and that a defendant is presumed innocent until and unless proven guilty."
