Total Loss!

On January 30th, the Barron Fire Department was dispatched to the Fankhauser residence in the 1200 block of 20-1/2 Avenue in Cumberland for a reported structure fire. The residence was unoccupied at the time, and no injuries were reported. Emergency crews fought for 4-1/2 hours before clearing the scene. Assisting response agencies included New Auburn Fire Department (Firefighter Rehab Trailer), Cumberland Fire Department, Gold Cross EMS, LMC EMS, Barron County Sheriff's Dept, and Barron Electric.

Power outage affects 250+ residents

At approximately 2:00 a.m. on Wednesday, January 30, 2019, Barron Electric experienced a power outage affecting 250 plus customers in the Cumberland area. With the temperature at -32 below zero, and wind chills at -50 below, two community warming centers were opened to ensure public safety.

The Turtle Lake Casino Hotel, located at 777 Highways 8 and 63 served as a temporary warming center, sheltering thirty Maple Plain Reservation residents. Turtle Lake Casino busses were also used to relocate residents with transportation needs. During the reallocation, Cumberland EMS responded to a resident on home oxygen experiencing respiratory distress due to the loss of power. The subject was later transported.

The First Lutheran Church located at 1180 8th Avenue in Cumberland, was also opened as a temporary warming center, which provided shelter for two Cumberland area resident. Social media posts and a community Code Red mass notification message was launched, advising area residents of warming center options.

All power was restored by 2:30 that afternoon and a re-entry plan was initiated, assisting all residents to return to their homes.

One vehicle accident results in serious injury

On Friday, February 1, 2019, at 12:12 a.m., the Barron County Sheriff's Department received a call of a one-vehicle crash on Highway 53 just north of Chetek. Deputies from the Barron County Sheriff's Department, along with the Chetek Police Department, Chetek Ambulance, Chetek Fire Department and Lifelink 3 Helicopter responded to the scene.

Upon arrival, it was determined that a lone male was traveling northbound on Highway 53 and struck a guardrail. The driver was identified as Jack Holstein, age 23 of Cadott. Holstein was extricated from his vehicle and flown by Lifelink 3 to an Eau Claire Hospital with serious injuries. There were no other vehicles involved. Holstein was the only occupant in the vehicle.

Alcohol is believed to be a contributing factor. The northbound lane of Highway 53 was closed for about one hour.

The crash is being investigated by the Barron County Sheriff's Department.

Quinn votes for coverage for pre-existing conditions

Rep. Romaine Quinn

In a press release issued this week, Representative Romaine Quinn (R-Barron) said he was proud to vote for passage of Assembly Bill 1, the Pre-Existing Condition Guaranteed Coverage Act. With approximately one out of six people in Wisconsin diagnosed with a pre-existing condition, this bill will guarantee access to coverage regardless of changes that may happen at the federal level.

"Like many folks in the 75th District, my family has a long history of battling illnesses that are defined as pre-existing conditions," said Rep. Quinn. "I was proud to take to the Assembly floor and speak on behalf of those that struggle to maintain their health and their insurance coverage. With the passage of these protections behind us, we must now refocus our energy on reducing the actual cost of healthcare, which is still far too high for many."

The Pre-Existing Condition Guaranteed Coverage Act offers protections through three provisions. It prohibits those with a pre-existing condition from being denied a policy, being denied services required to treat a condition, and prevents higher premiums based on a person's health status.

The legislation would make Wisconsin a leader in the Midwest on pre-existing condition coverage and one of only five states to ensure all three elements of protection. After negotiating with Governor Evers, the bill was amended to prohibit annual or lifetime caps on coverage. The bill passed 76-19, earning bipartisan support from leading Democrats including Minority Leader Gordon Hintz (D-Oshkosh) and Representative Nick Milroy (D-South Range), who also represents part of the 25th Senate District.

"Dysfunction does not have to define Wisconsin politics," said Quinn. "This example of bipartisanship should reassure voters than their elected officials can and do get the job done. I am proud to join my northern colleagues, both Democrat and Republican, to offer protections for people with pre-existing conditions. I hope our state senate will do the same so we can all fulfill our campaign promise of protecting those who find themselves in unfortunate healthcare situations."

An estimated 852,000 people in Wisconsin have a medical condition that could prevent them from buying health insurance on their own if federal provisions were changed. Assembly Bill 1 ensures those individuals will have access to coverage.

Northwoods Notebook: Could (or should) Cumberland be another Hayward?

by Larry Werner

As I was changing back into my street shoes the other day at Sunshine Fitness, two fellows were talking about the community I fell in love with after buying a home here five years ago.

"This town has nothing to offer," one said. The other agreed. Then the first said: "There's something going on in Hayward all the time."

It was interesting to me that the guy held up Hayward as small town that has its act together. The same comparison came up in the fall of 2015, when local business people, civic leaders and ordinary citizens, such as this newcomer, were brought together in a project called "Placemaking."

A facilitator from the West Central Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission led us in brainstorming on ways to "enhance the character of places where people gather." In other words, we talked about creating public places where residents and visitors could gather. If people come together, the reasoning goes, the town will be vibrant, and people — residents and visitors — will spend money at local businesses.

Like they do in Hayward, the placemaking participants said.

What does Hayward, a town about the size of Cumberland, have that makes it a better tourist town? Is it lakes? Restaurants? Shops? Events? A few of the brainstormers said they didn't want The Island City to be a tourist town. But most seemed to think it would be good if The Island City had more for people to do, more places to gather.

A "vision" was developed: "Beautiful lakes in a vibrant community — Welcome to Cumberland! Your next-door, year-round island getaway centered around an active downtown and a strong sense of community"

In addition to producing that vision statement, the small groups made about 50 recommendations for ways to enhance and develop public places in the town so that, as our facilitator put it, Cumberland could be converted from a place people couldn't wait to get through into a place they didn't want to leave.

The recommendations are too numerous to list here. They ranged from developing a park with a band shell on Library Lake — and a boardwalk around it — to a bike trail through town and around Beaver Dam Lake, to murals on the sides of downtown buildings, to more events in winter and even a country inn or lodge downtown where visitors could stay.

Well, it's been more than three years since the placemaking report was issued. It's fair to say very few of the recommendations have been implemented. Heck, the Cumberland Area Business Alliance (CABA), which organized the placemaking initiative, recently disbanded. And Brian Nieman, the dynamic president of CABA, closed his Wealth Management office in Cumberland and moved to his company's office in Rice Lake.

But all is not doom and gloom, as the two guys at Sunshine Fitness suggested. Cumberland might not attract tourists the way Hayward does. But we've got a lot here — beautiful Beaver Dam, a campground and beach within walking distance of a downtown that does have shops and restaurants, stages on Library Lake where musicians and singers perform during Rutabaga Festival and on summer Tuesdays, a beautiful golf course and an arts center where locals and tourists can see plays and concerts year-round.

Sure, a country inn downtown or on the lake would be nice. And we all hope the new owner of the Tower House will reopen the historic mansion as a restaurant, which it had been for 50 years until it closed in 2016. More events in winter would be nice.

Maybe we're not Hayward. And maybe we don't want to be.

There's an old expression you hear when folks talk about some tourist towns: "It's a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there."

Cumberland, I think, is a nice place to live and, many of our friends would tell you, is also a great place to visit.

Wisconsin's Birkebeiner Ski Race seeks volunteers

In just over three weeks, the Winter Olympics will come to Wisconsin in the form of the American Birkebeiner Ski Marathon, the largest ski race in the United States, Sat., Feb. 23.

Celebrating 46 years of bringing skiers from all over the world to ski 52 kilometers from Cable to Hayward, the Birkie offers a unique opportunity to see Olympic-class athletes competing in our area. Athletes, and members of international skiing teams, who compete for their countries in Olympic years, will travel to northwest Wisconsin to ski the Birkie. Several million dollars are pumped into Northwest Wisconsin's economy each year by the Birkie, and people stay as far away from Hayward as Siren, to be part of the event.

Over 12,000 skiers are registered to take part in Birkebeiner events that are held around the Hayward area Feb. 21-24.

Over two thousand volunteers are needed each year to provide liquids and on-course nutrition to the skiers during the race. There are nine food stations on the race route, spaced over the 52 kilometers, and race organizers are in need of volunteers every year to provide this support. This can be used as a community service project for most students. Volunteers receive Birkie hats and event pins, lunch, and a volunteer party invitation with a chance to win door prizes.

The Gravel Pit Food Station is just one of the many places volunteers are needed for this year's American Birkebeiner Ski Marathon on Saturday, February 23rd.

Many area people volunteer at the Gravel Pit aid station, at about the halfway point of the Birkie, and first stop in the Korteloppet.

If you would like to be part of this rich history of the American Birkebeiner Ski Marathon, and would consider helping for a few hours on Friday, Feb. 22, or Saturday, Feb. 23, email local Birkebeiner Race Chief of the Gravel Pit Food Station, William Johnson, wjohnson004@gmail.com or call at 715-327-4158 for more information.

Registration to volunteer is easy on-line. Just go to www.birkie.com and click through the steps under volunteering, scroll down and click on the Gravel Pit food station from the list of options. You can choose the Korteloppet on Friday, or the full Birkie on Saturday (or both, if you really feel like being a mega-volunteer!)

Once registered, final information will be emailed to you.

Every year there are skiers from all 50 States and as many as 20 Countries competing at the Birkie. This is a chance to show off the best of the USA to the world. For more information on the race and its unique place in Wisconsin history visit: www.birkie.com

Cumberland, a great place to live

By: Paul Bucher

Let me first start by saying I appreciate Mr. Werner's efforts to promote Cumberland. Some may disagree with some ideas, but that is exactly what they are, they are ideas. We all want Cumberland to be the best it can be.

There are, however, some comparisons to Hayward that are not apples-to-apples. Cumberland is not Hayward, nor will it ever be Hayward. Hayward is an extremely unique community with the largest cross country ski race in the country, the World Lumberjack Championship, the world famous Chippewa Flowage, and a large casino, to mention a few reasons.

What may be most important is, it has numerous lakes, as beautiful as Beaver Dam, with resorts, restaurants and bars on many of them. They have so many options for families to spend a week or better there.

We don't have the resorts or fancy hotels for people to stay. Back in the day our area boasted many resorts, but they have gone away. Taxes in this area are crazy. Lake homes here often have taxes double that of lake homes in Hayward. How can one afford to purchase lakeshore and build a resort here, or build at hotel on the water.

What campgrounds we have are doing quite well. I think Eagle Point, Brigadoon, Country Quiet and North Lake Campgrounds are awesome. B & B's are great. Mark and his family at Island Inn are wonderful.

It's not enough to ever make Cumberland like Hayward. And you know what—that's O.K. Yes, we want to move forward. Yes we want to attract visitors, summer and winter alike.

With that being said, Cumberland is a wonderful place. We have so much to be thankful for. We are the envy of many small towns.

We have a beautiful downtown, a great school system, theatre, ski trails, lakes, athletic facilities, and more. We have the Best Summer Festival, the Best Fourth of July Celebration, the Best Ice Fishing Contest in the area. We have Art In The Park, an awesome Golf Course, restaurants and businesses second to none. We have a multi-million dollar car dealership and state of the art hospital coming. The list could go on and on.

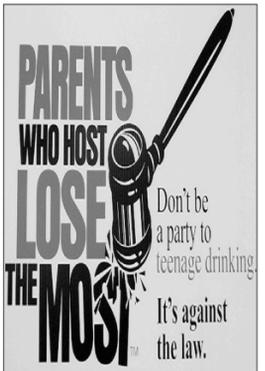

While the grass sometimes seems greener on the other side of the fence, sometimes it is pretty green on this side.

I encourage people to keep on suggesting new things, write a letter to the editor. Drop the Chamber of Commerce a note. Join an organization. We have wonderful people here and that is what makes Cumberland great. Let's keep making Cumberland the best it can be.

Opinion

By Craig Bucher

The news has been full of reports of automobile accidents, some due to the inclement weather, some due to booze, and some due to inattentive driving. According to studies, use of cellphones is responsible for almost as many accidents as is drunken driving. Our neighbors, in Minnesota, are in the process of deciding if, Minnesota will become the 14th state to attempt to take cellphones out of the hands of drivers. I hope their legislators take the bold step to ban drivers from using their phones while driving. I suspect, if they are successful at all, it will only ban those phones that are not hands free. That will be a start but it does not go far enough. A recent report lists “inattentive blindness” as another problem for drivers on the hands-free cellphone. I have not been able to figure out what is so important that I have to answer the phone immediately. Our parents got along, all of their lives, without any type of a mobile phone and they did just fine.

The recent cold snap brought out the “cold” jokes. Here are a few that I heard.

- You know it is cold when the mice are playing hockey in the toilet bowl.
- You know it is cold when the snowman wants to come in.
- You know it is cold when you have to salt the hallway.

Custom and Border Security

To the Editor:

Customs and Border Officers seized the largest attempted delivery of illegal drugs entering US at a legal port of entry with the help of drug dogs on 1/31. Estimated 80% to 90% of various illegal drugs arrive at legal ports of entry, ports severely understaffed, about one in five vehicles and shipping containers are presently checked. The number of border crossings illegal apprehensions have been mostly declining since mid-2000, 80% down since 2000.

US Congress voted for 700 miles of barriers in 2006 in the most vulnerable areas. Democrats reluctantly approved, but said border barriers would not solve problems of drugs or illegals. Physical barriers need constant, costly repairs and monitoring. Today additional barriers face problems, cutting through US citizens' properties, negatively affecting citizen's income. Trump had two years with Republican controlled Congress to get his wall funding and couldn't get Republican agreement. Republican Representative Hurd (Texas), who worked for CAI nine years and later a cybersecurity firm, is opposed to additional walls, as is his constituents. His district has 800 miles along the US-Mexican border. Democrats and Hurd emphasize increased border security with new low-cost technical methods, drones, cameras, drug dogs, and more agents staffing legal ports of entry and rest of the border. Physical barriers normally fail unless extraordinary and brutal measures

Inside Wisconsin by Tom Still

Global trends and markets are behind Foxconn's possible pivot

MADISON, Wis. – Two recent news stories, seemingly unrelated to the media fire drill over the Foxconn Technology Group project, help to explain why the company could significantly evolve its Wisconsin operations over time. The first was a New York Times story on how American-born Apple struggled to assemble its Mac Pro computer in Texas, despite its best “Made in America” intentions, mainly because of gaps in the supply chain and lack of available talent. As Apple chief executive officer Tim Cook was quoted as saying in late 2017: “In the U.S., you could have a meeting of tooling engineers and I’m not sure we could fill the room. In China, you could fill multiple football fields.”

The second story from the Associated Press also involved Apple, which is grappling with sluggish iPhone sales – especially in China, its No. 2 customer behind the United States – and how that has affected revenues and stock prices of late. The company is now counting on more growth in a division that collects commissions from paid apps, processes payments, sells hardware warranty plans and music streaming subscriptions.

How does the affect Foxconn and its plans for Wisconsin? Directly and indirectly. Foxconn is a leading Apple contractor, even if assembly of iPhones and Macs was never on the drawing boards for the company's facility in the Racine County Town of Mount Pleasant. Foxconn is one of the top five tech companies in the world, yet it is subject to trends that range from global device sales to talent pipelines to trade wars. Those trends are playing out now. On Jan. 30, a Reuters news report said Foxconn was reconsidering whether to produce LCD video screens in Racine County, touching off finger-pointing among people and politicians on all sides of the Foxconn deal.

The next day, there were conflicting reports. The first quoted a leading Foxconn official as saying the Reuters story was out of context and nothing had changed in terms of the company goal to create 13,000 jobs and invest $10 billion in Wisconsin. The second, from Nikkei Asian Review, said Foxconn will suspend work on its Racine campus and postpone work on a $9-billion display panel project in Guang-zhou, China, for at least six months.

Which report is correct? Given the curious way in which the flurry of reports took place, it can be hard to know. This much, however, appears to be true:

- Foxconn has invested about $200 million in Wisconsin so far, acquired several thousand acres of land, acquired property for innovation centers in Eau Claire, Green Bay and Milwaukee, and forged relationships with many, if not most, academic institutions in the state.
- Private and public economic development officials in Wisconsin have been told by Foxconn's No. 2 executive that work will proceed over the next 18 months in Racine County on a liquid crystal module packaging plant; a high-precision molding factory; a system integration assembly facility; a rapid prototyping center; a research-and-development center; a high-performance data center; and a town center to support employees in Mount Pleasant.
- A contract negotiated by the State of Wisconsin and Foxconn remains in place, setting out tiered goals for job creation, salary levels and capital investment in exchange for state tax credits. The contract is structured in an “all or nothing” way that means tax credits are not paid each year unless annual goals are met in their entirety. For example, Foxconn didn't get any tax credits for the 2018 year because it fell short of hiring enough people.

Foxconn's footprint in Wisconsin may eventually be that of a diversified company with interests in research and development, engineering, advanced screens for industries such as aviation and autonomous vehicles, medical imaging, high-throughput computing, robotics, sustainable systems and other technologies consistent with what Wisconsin does well.

Will that result in 13,000 jobs and investments of $10 billion? No one knows, probably even those inside Foxconn. The only thing that seems certain is that state taxpayers are protected under ever-changing global and market scenarios that have little or nothing to do with events in Wisconsin.

Jacob L. Pecha, 53, of Almena, has been charged with felony bail jumping. (Failure to comply with the terms of his bond by possessing or consuming alcohol). His adjourned initial appearance was scheduled for March 8, 2019.

Justin R. King, 37, of Rice Lake, has been charged with second degree reckless endangering safety, resisting an officer, disorderly conduct, domestic abuse, and operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, 1st.

The criminal complaint states that on Wednesday, January 20, 2019, at approximately 8:19 p.m. Rice Lake Police Officers Olson, Zachmann and Wisconsin State Trooper Hudacek, responded to a female 911 caller with an open line, who was screaming for help. The caller indicated she was inside of a vehicle. Barron County Dispatch advised the call was showing near Marshfield Medical Center.

Sgt. Zimmerman observed a pickup truck parked at Bear Paw Avenue and Knapp Street, in the City of Rice Lake, he also observed a male and female standing outside of the truck who were arguing. Sgt. Zimmerman and Officer Olson separated the male, who was later identified as Justin R. King, and directed him to the rear of Sgt. Zimmerman's squad car. King began to pull away from Sgt. Zimmerman and Officer Olson and yell. He continued to attempt to pull away after he was directed against the rear driver side of the squad car, which necessitated Officer Olson and Sgt. Zimmerman having to direct him to the ground. Trooper Hudacek assisted by holding King's legs. King was assisted to his feet and brought to the rear passenger side of his squad, but would not get inside the vehicle. Officers had to direct King inside and put him in.

Sgt. Zimmerman smelled the odor of intoxicants coming from King. Officer Olson located an open bottle of spiced rum inside of the vehicle, along with a cup that had been used for intoxicating beverages. King stated he had six drinks with friends before driving home. Officer Zimmerman spoke with the female subject, who said Justin had been driving the vehicle. Officer Zachmann observed that the female subject was distraught and crying. She had just returned home from California, so she went out with Justin, who is her husband, to have some drinks for the evening. She said they had been together for approximately 12 years, and that they reside together. She further stated he drank multiple mixed drinks, but he insisted on driving home from their friend's house in Spooner. She said he was angry at her because earlier she had questioned him about a bottle of female perfume that she had found in the vehicle that did not belong to her.

She stated King was weaving all over the road and she believed he was too intoxicated to drive, so she asked him to pull over so she could drive. This upset him and he stated, "Oh, you don't trust me." He refused to pull over and let her drive. He then started to speed the vehicle up, and started to yell at her and to punch the steering wheel, dash and roof of the vehicle. He drove at speeds of approximately 100 miles per hour as he was driving on US Highway 53, and was swerving all over the road. She felt the vehicle hit the rumble strips on the right side of the roadway and then swerve left and hit the rumble strips on the left side of the roadway. She told him to stop before he crashed and killed them both. King replied, "I don't care if I kill us both," and then nearly hit a semi on the freeway as he was swerving while he was punching the interior of the vehicle.

Officer Zachmann asked her why she continued to hang up on dispatch when she called 911. She stated King was swerving all over the roadway and he was yelling at her to hang up. She said the phone was sliding across the dash and she was not able to grab it to stay on the line with dispatch. She said she was bouncing around in the car because of the way he was driving. When he exited off of US Highway 53 he did multiple donuts on the roadway on US Highway 48. She said he then went off the roadway and she believed he struck a road sign. She believed the road sign was west of US Highway 53 on Highway 48. She said she did not actually see him hit the sign, because when she saw the vehicle driving at the sign she covered her head and ducked down because it was on her side of the vehicle. She said she feared for her safety.

Serious accident

On Friday, February 1, 2019, Jack Holstein, age 23 of Cadott, was traveling northbound on Hwy 53 and struck a guardrail. Holstein was flown by Lifelink 3 to an Eau Claire Hospital with serious injuries. Story on page 1.

Officer Zachmann went to the location on Highway 48 where she believed King stuck the road sign. He observed tire tracks going off of the south side of Highway 48 into the ditch. He then located a road sign laying in the ditch. The road sign was attached by a wooden 4x4 post and was broke off approximately 6 inches from the ground. He observed the road sign laying in the ditch on Highway 48 just west of the US Highway 53 overpass in the eastbound lane. Officer Zachmann later observed Kendra's vehicle and located a small scratch/dent on the front bumper of the truck. She indicated the dent was not previously there.

Officer Zachmann administered preliminary breath test to Kendra, and the reported value was .00. He then administered a field sobriety test to King, who failed to perform the field sobriety tests satisfactorily. He then administered a preliminary breath test and the result was .13.

If convicted King may be fined not more than $36,000 or imprisoned for not more than 11 years, or both. His preliminary hearing will be held February 13, 2019.

Lance R. Hovland, 29, of Rice lake, has been charged with attempting to flee or elude an officer, operating a motor vehicle after revocation of his driver's license, 1st, possession of THC, and possession of drug paraphernalia.

The criminal complaint states that on January 26, 2019, at approximately 2:36 p.m. Officer Reinikainen assisted Sgt. Tomesh with a shoplifting incident at a department store in the city of Rice Lake.

Officer Reinikainen reported the incident involved a subject named Lance Hovland. While investigating the complaint, Officer Reinikainen learned that Hovland's driver's status was revoked, and he had driven a blue S-10 to the department store. Hovland was cited for theft and told he would have to contact someone to pick him up.

Officer Reinikainen drove across Highway O and took up a position near a store where he was able to observe Hovland's truck. Officer Reinikainen observed Sgt. Tomesh release Hovland from custody, and Hovland then walked north across the parking lot, turned east, and then later turned south again. Officer Reinikainen suspected Hovland was returning to his truck, and a short time later he was able to observe Hovland walking toward his truck. He was not able to specifically observe him enter the truck because of the position of other vehicles, but he did observe the truck begin moving across the parking lot and turn onto Highway O.

Officer Reinikainen pulled behind the truck, and as the truck approached the stop light on Main Street, he observed the vehicle's right brake light was not functioning.

Wrestlers Win HON Conference Championship

The Cumberland Wrestling Team finished second to Spooner at the HON Conference Wrestling Tournament held last Saturday in Chetek. That second place finish, however, was good enough to give them the overall Team Conference Championship, their sixth in the last seven years.

Going into Saturday's Meet, Northwestern and Cumberland were tied for First place following dual competition. Although Spooner won the meet with 191.5 points, by edging Northwestern 154 to 150.5 for second place, Cumberlands combined dual and tournament finishes gave them the 2018-2019 Championship, with Northwestern finishing second and Spooner third.

The Beavers needed every single individual point they earned on Saturday to win the title. Although gaining only one Individual Championship, by Senior Reid Olson, Cumberland had five wrestlers finish as runner-ups, a key to finishing ahead of Northwestern. Spooner had three wrestlers take Individual Titles.

Reid Olson grabbed his third straight HON Championship with a bye, a pin, and a 9-2 decision over Northwesterns Zach Pooler at 145-pounds. Olson continued his outstanding career and added on to his school record win totals. He is now 38-2 on the year as he heads into Regional competition this Saturday.

Second place finishes came from Gabby Skidmore (30-10), Benett Schramski (27-15), Adam Nyhus (28-14), Blake Siebert (25-12), and Milan Monchilovich (34-7). Each wrestler went 2 and 1 on the day to finish as the runner-up in their respective weight classes. Siebert came the closest to a title, wrestling extremely well before dropping an exciting 8 to 5 decision to Spooner's Chase Melton, who has a 37-1 record on the year.

The Beavers had no third or fourth place finishes, but received fifths from Braxdyn Engstrand (12-21), Manny Torres (21-19), and Jacob Simon (19-24). Each win earned, however, helped Coach Isaac Lundquist and the Beavers take home the HON Championship. "I'm very proud of our whole team for its efforts throughout the season," said Lundquist.

Cumberland will be a host site for this Saturday's Division 3 Regional Tournament. Five teams will join the Beavers in the meet, including Shell Lake, Cameron, Turtle Lake/Clayton, Unity, and St. Croix Falls. The Beavers will join St. Croix Falls as the two favorites to take home the team title. Wrestling begins in Elmer Beran Gymnasium at 10:30 am

Northwest Icemen Defeat WSFLG; Have Busy Week Ahead

The Northwest Icemen continued their season last week with a 6-0 shutout over WSFLG in a contest played in Spooner. The team played at Medford on Tuesday and is scheduled to finish up the regular season this week with games scheduled against Chequamegon at Barron on Thursday night and at Hayward this Saturday at 5:30 pm. The team will take a solid 11-8-1 mark into those contests.

Cumberlands Jonah Becker was in the nets to record the victory. He needed only 14 saves in recording the shutout.

Two Cumberland players got into the scoring column for the Icemen. Lucas Anderson recorded the games first goal, while later adding an assist, while Tyler Bohn also added an assist in the third period.

The Icemen open up WIAA Tournament play next Tuesday, by traveling to Menomonie's Dunn County Ice Arena for a 7:00 pm start. The Icemen dropped a 4-3 decision to the Mustangs earlier this winter. The winner gets to play the top-seeded Superior Spartans on Thursday, February 14th, also in a 7:00 pm start

Boys Basketball Defeats Luck; At Spooner Next

The Boys Basketball Team was held to one game last week due to cold weather, but they used that opportunity to take a 65-47 non-conference victory over the Luck Cardinals. The win moved the Beavers overall record to 11 and 5 on the year, as they headed into competition this week.

The Beavers forged out a 29-19 halftime lead and pulled away to the win. "I thought we earned the victory by playing with good effort, communicating well, and, playing good team basketball. Luck is well coached with some talented kids," Coach Corey Berghammer said.

Jack Martens led the Beavers in scoring with 19 points, while adding six rebounds. Andrew Barnes added 18 points, while Noah Schradle scored 14 and Riley Bodsberg had nine. Noah Schradle had 12 rebounds and added 11 assists in a great all-around effort.

Cumberland's game on Monday was canceled due to the weather, while they are scheduled to play at Spooner on Friday. The Beavers next home game is Tuesday, February 12, when they host Unity in a 7:15 pm. start.

Cumberland Girls Fall To Spooner; At Northwestern on Thursday

The Cumberland Girls Basketball Team could not overcome some cold shooting as they dropped a 34-25 game to the Spooner Rails last Friday night. The victory by the Rails was there second of the year over the Beavers.

"We got within five points at one point in the second half, but struggled to get our shots to drop," said Coach Corey Chilson.

Izzy West led the team with 12 points, nine rebounds, and three steals. Maisen Gores added six points and 13 rebounds, while Amie West scored four. The Beavers next travel to Northwestern this Thursday night for a 7:15 start and then host Unity next Tuesday in a 5:45 pm start in Elmer Beran Gymnasium.

Sub Zero Fisheree

Hello friends,
About a month ago I received an email from Alissa Olson who is a nurse that lives in Dodgeville with her husband Trevor. Alissa and Trevor are very active outdoors people along with a large group of friends that are in their in mid-twenties.

The reason for Alissa's email was because they hold a kids ice fishing fisheree on Blackhawk Lake. It coincides with the Highland Lion's Club "Dean Olson Memorial Fisheree" that just happened to be started by Trevor's grandpa, "Dean" and his father, Bob, currently is a club member.

The real reason for Alissa's email was that she was at a meeting the night before for the kids fisheree and someone had mentioned potentially starting a Kids And Mentors Outdoors Chapter (KAMO). Alissa had asked me what it would take and I replied with how about I come down to Dodgeville, meet the gang, help with your fisheree, and we can go from there.

Friday, January 25th
High 12, low minus 14

So here is the scoop. I am driving from Necedah to Dodgeville and my left, front end starts making ugly noises which ends up being a wheel bearing. My plan is to meet the Olson's and a very cool, outdoor oriented group of people, head out to Blackhawk Lake, and do as much work as possible for the next morning's fisheree.

Besides the wheel bearing, the cold blast that affected North America would partially hit that night and 14-inches of snow on Blackhawk Lake made for a lot slush on the ice that was a huge problem as you could not drive trucks on the ice and these folks had lots of gear.

So I do not know anyone and I just became a laborer like everyone else, as in shoveling and putting up a large tent that was really difficult as we were freezing our fingers.

We got the job done and then the fun began as we drove to the Olson's and I was really impressed as I had my first conversations with about ten, tech savvy, outdoor oriented, and fun people as we ate pizza, had a couple of beers and watched outdoor videos.

Saturday, January 26th
High 6, low minus 20

I felt a bit insecure as I drove to Blackhawk Lake early this morning. It was minus 20 on the trucks thermometer and I was just praying the wheel bearing would get me home after the fisheree.

I have to mention some of these super cool people doing all of this volunteer work. Erik and Sami Longseth, Tyler Olson, Chase Larson, Nick Mantsch, Mitch Long, Kevin Gruber, Alicia Thompson, and Travis Halverson, are just a few of the good people that planned and put this together as they have for three years now.

They had seven fish shacks set up for the kids and their parents and a guide for each shack. The big tent was for registration, food, games and some education by the local fish biologist and conservation warden.

The night before in the Olson's basement I helped them load up a bucket for each kid with gear that they would be able to take home that had been donated. Chase Larson is from Rhinelander and is in charge of social media for Badger Sportsmen. Chase reminds me of myself when I was first starting out in this business and he had a lot of really cool stories of his non-stop outdoor adventures.

Alicia Thompson grew up in Park Falls is in her mid 20's and drove down from Eau Claire to help out. Alicia is very much into the outdoors and is helping host a women's ice fishing weekend that sounded like a blast.

Erik and Sami Longseth are locals that are heavy into the outdoors and are some of the folks that are interested in creating a KAMO chapter.

I have to give credit to the parents that showed up in below zero conditions for this fisheree, and this gang was praying that they return next year. I spoke with a lot of these outdoors people after the fisheree, and they all said that the reason that they do it is to get kids out of the house and to hopefully nurture them to enjoy the outdoors.

Sled races were a fun pastime for the young fishermen.

My angel was with me as the wheel bearing held out till I got home and then chose to die!

Barronett News By Judy Pieper

The Super Bowl commercials were great, weren't they? The halftime show left a lot to be desired though. (I think I feel that way because I'm older than dirt and would have rather seen Willy Nelson or Loretta Lynn out there). The only thing I like about the Super Bowl game is that it is the last one of the season and we won't have to watch football again until fall. If the Packers or the Vikings had been playing, that would have made a difference, but who really cares about New England and Los Angeles?

Duane and I watched the game with Lynn Thon, Jamie Lombard and Brad, and I guess the best part of watching the game was the food Jamie and Brad made. And, of course, the fact that Duane was cheering for New England and Brad was cheering for Los Angeles. I was really hoping Los Angeles would win because of their quarterback. When they showed his face while he was on the sideline, it was easy to see how much he wanted the victory and how disappointed he was when New England made the one and only touchdown. Oh well, he probably has another 20 years to get a Super Bowl ring.

Jay Olson traveled up from Missouri to visit with family and friends and, especially, to help surprise Kenny Sparish on his birthday. The big surprise party was held at the American Legion in Cumberland last Friday night, and Kenny was REALLY surprised. I will never know how people can keep a secret like that, but they did, and it was great. There were lots and lots of family and friends there to help Kenny celebrate getting old, and lots of food and cake. Jay played his guitar and sang the old country songs that he does so well. The dance floor was deserted for the first couple of songs, but after Kenny and Jackie started dancing, the floor filled up. Even Kenny's dad and mom, Chet and Cathy, were out there dancing. It was a great party and, I'm sure, Kenny and everyone else, had a wonderful time.

Merl and Shirley Overvig were visiting in the area last Friday. Merl had an appointment in Rice Lake, so while he was there, Shirley stopped by Dorothy Orth's home and visited with her. When Merl got back to Cumberland, he and Shirley drove to Barronett and had lunch at the Red Brick Cafe with Duane and me. From there they went out to visit with Dick and Ruth Grover for a while. Sounds like they had a full, fun day and we all certainly were happy to see them.

I stopped by Speedy's C Stop one day last week to fuel up and gossip with Rita Arnes. She said that she was happy to relinquish her Queen of the Ice crown, but she wasn't so sure about Isaac Neitzel. She said that he seemed to be hanging around hoping to be crowned again this year. Just kidding around, Isaac. We all know you were a great King of the Ice and that you very graciously gave up that title.

Isn't it great to be finished with that horrible cold weather we had last week? I think the kids were happy because they had two or three days off from school, but there really wasn't much they could do to have fun anyway—other than stay inside and keep warm. I don't remember school being called off due to cold when I was a kid—maybe for snow, but I can't remember that happening either. Maybe it was easier to get to school in the horse and buggy days. Or, maybe people just care more about the well-being of the kids now.

We had a family waffles and ice cream birthday breakfast for Garrett Thon here on Sunday morning. Garrett worked all night for the Rice Lake Police Department, then went home to pick up Kandice and Kane and then came here, so he was pretty tired, but he was happy that so many family members were able to join him for his birthday breakfast. After breakfast Duane talked Garrett into helping him get a radiator hose on his '50 Chevy pickup. Duane had worked on it trying to get that stupid hose on for over an hour, and it took Garrett a few minutes. Dang whippersnappers. The least those kids could do is make things seem a little more difficult so we old timers wouldn't feel too bad about ourselves.

Art and Jill Adams stopped by our place Sunday evening to bring some jelly jars back and to check to see that I was being good to Duane. They had lot of advise to give him, but it was mostly things like, "Don't let Aunt Jude walk behind you when you're walking down stairs. That was Art-Jill is much nicer to me. Anyway, Duane is doing very well after his fall—almost back to normal. I don't think he will be breaking up rocks for a couple weeks yet, but he's healing up nicely.

Our sympathy goes to the family of little Watson Cole Stewart. Watson passed away on January 29th at the age of one year and eight days. Watson spent the majority of his short life in hospitals, but was able to be at home with his loving parents, Austin Keller and Kelsi Stewart, at the end. Please keep Watson's family in your prayers for comfort at this time of sadness.

That's all I know from Barronett this week. Enjoy the above zero weather. See you next time.

"I'm worried about my Aunt. She has some memory problems and I'm afraid she's not eating well. How can I help her?"

Court News...

The truck turned north on Main Street and Officer Reinikainen activated his emergency lights on his marked squad car, and the vehicle moved to the right slightly, but as traffic in front of the truck moved to the edge of the roadway the truck then quickly drove around the vehicle in front of it and went back in the right lane.

Officer Reinikainen continued to follow the truck, which encountered a red light at an intersection, and the truck appeared to be turning at the intersection. At that time, the truck suddenly accelerated back into the driving lane and through the intersection in violation of the red light, and there was moderate traffic at the intersection when the truck drove through.

Officer Reinikainen pursued the truck and his speedometer indicated that in doing so he was traveling approximately 55 miles per hour in the area of Kwik Trip, with moderate traffic, which was yielding to his vehicle.

Sgt. Tomesh assisted Officer Reinikainen in attempting to stop the vehicle, and the vehicle drove around Sgt. Tomesh's squad and continued onward. Sgt. Tomesh followed the vehicle and Officer Reinikainen followed behind Sgt. Tomesh.

The vehicle driven by Hovland eventually hastily parked in a driveway and Officer Reinikainen observed Hovland exit the vehicle and walk quickly toward the residence. He also observed Sgt. Tomesh exit his squad, yell something at Hovland and run toward him. Officer Reinikainen temporarily lost sight of both of them as they rounded a corner, and after he rounded the corner, he could hear them both inside of the garage service door.

After the vehicle stopped and the driver exited it, Sgt. Tomesh yelled, "Police stop, get on the ground!" several times. Hovland looked at him and continued toward a door of an attached garage. He pushed the door to the garage open, stepped inside and closed the door as Sgt. Tomesh approached it. Sgt. Tomesh entered the garage, which was filled with furniture and clothes, Hovland was attempting to step through a plastic barrier, at which point Sgt. Tomesh grabbed Hovland by the shoulder and escorted him to the ground.

Officer Reinikainen and Sgt. Tomesh secured

Hovland and he became cooperative after he was taken into custody. He commented several times that, "I just wanted to get the truck home so it wouldn't be towed."

After Hovland was secured in the squad car Sgt. Tomesh advised he had located drug items in the center console of the truck. Located in the center console was a green metal dugout, which is commonly used to hold marijuana and a pipe. A small amount of marijuana was also located in the dugout and a white metal pipe in the center console. The plant material weighted

.59 grams and field tested positive for the presence of THC.

Officer Reinikainen later questioned Hovland who admitted seeing the police emergency lights and apologized for his actions. Officer Reinikainen determined that the pursuit continued for approximately .9 miles.

If convicted Hovland may be fined not more than $14,000 or imprisoned for not more than five years and 30 days, or both. His driver's license may also be revoked for not more than two years. His preliminary hearing will be held February 19, 2019.

Psalm 71

By: Pastor Mark Bents

Augustana Lutheran Church, Cumberland

The age-old question that is asked of most children at some stage in their early years is: "What do you want to be when you grow up?" The answer used to be "a fireman"; "a policeman"; "a hairdresser"; "a nurse"; "teacher."

How the times have changed! Children these days will eventually be using skills not yet developed on careers not yet imagined! I believe that the answers are not just by listing careers! The real question is what do people eventually want to "be" or "become" before their life's end. People would like to discover the mystery of their own potential and who their own "self" was and is, from the time they were born up to their present age, pondering life's meaning.

"Be to me a protecting rock of safety." In his prayer to God, the Psalmist was attempting to understand more about God's being and nature! He begged God for security, being fully aware of God's continued protection. He gave thanks. He knew from his own experience the strength and power of Gods' protecting arm. He also knew the hope that God offered to all who place their trust in God. He knew of God's life-long care over him!

Regardless of our faith in God, fear and anxiety makes all of us feel very vulnerable. This writer was not only old, but vulnerable and scared! He begged God not to abandon him even as he sang God's praises. His positive attitude to life returned and he sang to God: "...you will restore me to life again and lift me up... You have done such wonderful things. Who can compare with you, O God...because you are faithful to your promises, O God...I will shout for joy and sing your praises..."

I never really knew what I wanted to "be" or "become." My parents had definite views on what career path I should follow, but it took me many years before I found what I considered to be, my real "place" in life. I've been asked to do many interesting and challenging things, but my greatest discovery and most satisfying experience has been in simply "being" one of God's beloved children.

God's Peace.

OBITUARIES... A Look Back...

Verna T. Milleon

Verna Theresa Milleon, 79, of Turtle Lake died on January 29, 2019 at her home. She was born December 6, 1939 in Minneapolis, MN to Donald and Verna (Solvie) Sullivan.

She married Donald Milleon in Spirit Lake, IA in 1961. They raised their family in Minneapolis, MN, purchased a lake home on Kirby Lake near Cumberland in 1986, and retired there in 1990. She worked several years in the laundry at the St. Croix Casino in Turtle Lake. She loved to paint and garden and was a voracious reader. Verna had several dogs over the years, but her prized puppy was her Pug, Gus.

She is survived by her children: Susan Milleon of Minneapolis, MN; David Milleon of Cumberland, Jon Milleon of Turtle Lake and Donnie Milleon of Clear Lake; granddaughter, Courteney (Kyle) Vanderhoof and their children: Jonah, Bennett and Nina; nieces, nephews and other relatives. Verna was preceded in death by her husband, Donald; her brother, Donald William Sullivan.

There was a gathering of family and friends on Saturday February 2, 2019 at the Skinner Funeral Home in Cumberland.

90 Years Ago

February 14, 1929

The CHS Basketball team traveled to Clayton recently and barley managed to record a win 25-24. Leading scorers were White with 10 points, and Sirianni, Christenson, and Alfonse contributing the balance. The Company Store advertised three heads of Fancy lettuce at .29¢.

G. R. Kellermann has announced his candidacy for the office of County Superintendent of Schools.

The weather last week was of the same variety as we had in January—mostly sub zero, ranging as low as minus 30 and rising only to the zero mark at mid day.

100 Years Ago

February 13, 1919

The local company of the State Guard reserves has decided to take advantage of the lifting of the ban on public gatherings and will stage a grand military ball at the Opera House.

About 30 of the returned soldiers and sailors were guests at a dinner given by Mrs. R. E. Hopkins, Mrs. George L. Hopkins, and Mrs. Hugh Reynolds.

ures are taken. Nazi wired barriers. Soviet's Berlin Wall and barriers along Hungarian and Czechoslovakian borders. Morocco on occupied Western Sahara. Israel's borders against Palestinians. All didn't completely keep desperate people from escaping or from fighting back. Trump acknowledged that determined people can use ladders and with a rope descend over the wall or dig tunnels under the wall. In December, Mexican authorities discovered three tunnels under border walls.

Trump inherited a 6.5 year growing economy. During recessions (which Obama inherited), government deficit spends to turn the economy around. But in a growing economy, national debt should be reduced. The last 18 months of Obama, job creation was the same as the first 18 months of Trump. Two years into Trump's administration, debt has grown $2 Trillion to $21.6 Trillion. Most of this debt is from Corporation and top 1% tax cuts. Additional economic growth rate under Trump is government spending on military-related equipment. Trump wants $5.7 Billion of taxpayer funds, and probably more later, for an ineffective, costly, and outdated idea of border security. What needed US programs will be cut? Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, etc? Programs Republican Majority Leader Mitch McConnell recommended for cuts to pay for Trump's tax cuts and the wall.

Smile Day!

National Attention!

Dental Hygienist Erica Donatelle and Brilynn Maudel share a smile at the fifth annual "Give Kids A Smile Day". Cumberland Family Dental offered free dental care to any child 18 and younger in the Cumberland School District on Friday February 1st.

This photo of Cameron Fire Chief Mitch Hansen drew national attention being seen on numerous national media outlets. Chief Hansen had this to say after battling a house fire last Wednesday in -50 degree wind chill temps. "I was frozen stiff on the outside but warm on the inside". Be sure to say thanks to those who risk their own lives to keep us safe.
