Rice Lake man loses life in one car crash

On Saturday, June 29th, around 9:30 p.m., the Washburn County Dispatch received a call about a crash around the intersection of Woodcraft Rd. and Cranberry Dr. in the Town of Beaver Brook.

The caller, an area resident, reported hearing the crash at 9:24 p.m.

The Washburn Sheriff's Department, Spooner Police, and North Memorial Ambulance all responded to the scene and found a 2010 Toyota Prius on it's side, facing south, in the woods alongside Hwy. 253. Ambulance personnel broke the sunroof to gain access to the driver, later identified as Justin A. Andrea, 35, of Rice Lake, who was pronounced dead at the scene.

The Sheriff's report indicated that tire tracks indicated that Andrea's vehicle had been traveling northbound on Hwy. 253, crossed lanes, and entered the ditch on the west side of Hwy. 253. The vehicle hit the bottom of the ditch, went up the hill and hit a tree about 12-15 ft. in the air, spun so it was facing towards the south and then landed on its side. The report also indicated that the airbag did not deploy and it was not clear whether Andrea had been wearing a seat belt.

Investigation into what caused Andrea to cross lanes is still under investigation.

Happy Birthday, America! Join us for fun and fireworks as Cumberland celebrates our Independence!

by Hope Lee Vicich

One of my favorite pieces of trivia about the Independence Day is that John Adams, who was a member of the committee which drafted the Declaration of Independence, signer of the Declaration, and our second President, is directly responsible for how we celebrate the birth of our nation.

He wrote in a letter home to his wife Abigail that: "I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated, by succeeding generations, as the Great Anniversary Festival. It ought to be commemorated, as the Day of Deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with Pomp and Parade, with Shews, Games, Sports, Guns, Bells, Bonfires and Illuminations from one End of this continent to the other from this time forward forever more."

We here in Cumberland take his "guidance" seriously and do our part to fulfill his vision, thanks to the Chamber of Commerce. If you are anywhere near Cumberland this July 4th, you should come on down to Tourist Park and enjoy a day of fun, food and family, capped off by the area's biggest fireworks display!

This year's festivities kick-off on Wednesday night July 3rd at 8:00 p.m. until midnight in the GAP Pavilion with live music by the band Paisan. There will also be food trucks and beer down at the beech from 8:00 p.m. through midnight.

Then on Thursday morning the 4th of July fun begins at the Firehouse with the annual Cumberland Fireman's Pancake Breakfast from 7:00 to 11:00 am. They accept "free will offerings" with the proceeds going to support the Fire Department.

The festivities at Tourist Park begin at 11:00 a.m. with Kids games (under 12), and then at noon, the volleyball and horseshoe tournaments start. Contact Krista Johnson, 715-671-8132, for more info or to register.

Beer and food will be available from noon until midnight, and live music begins at 7:30 p.m. and goes until midnight with DJ Skeeter on Sound. As always the fantastic fireworks start at dusk. So bring your family and friends and come join the party!

I have a few more pieces of Independence Day trivia for you (simply because I cannot help myself):

Though we celebrate July 4th as "Independence Day" the Second Continental Congress actually passed the final draft of the resolution and declared independence on July 2nd, just as the British fleet and army sailed into New York Harbor. It took two days for a "fair copy" of the Declaration to be made and on July 4th the Declaration was read to the congress and officially adopted. The document was then made into "broad-sides" and the Pennsylvania Evening Post printed the first newspaper edition on July 6th.

The first public celebration of independence was on July 8, 1776 as the Liberty Bell sounded from the tower of Independence Hall, summoning the citizens to gather

Polk County Sheriff needs your help

The Polk County Sheriff's Office is requesting the following information pertaining to the RV camper fire investigation which took place on June 22nd, 2019 just outside of Dresser, Wisconsin on Ravine Drive.

The Sheriff's Department are looking to speak with an adult male and an adult female who had contact with the RV camper/driver shortly before the fire was reported to law enforcement (approximately 4:00-4:20 pm). The subjects were known to be driving a smaller truck similar Dodge Dakota or S10, black or dark in color. Both of the subjects are believed to be in their late 20's or early 30's and according to witnesses, attempted to help the occupant of the camper get the RV out of the ditch. We believe their interaction with the occupant is critical to the on-going investigation and are looking to speak with them. Any information that can be shared which would help the Sheriff's Department in identifying these subjects please contact us at 715-485-8300.

Emergency Training Exercise!

On Saturday, June 29th, Cumberland hosted a large scale emergency training exercise at the Cumberland High School. The training exercise was aimed to simulate a school shooting event. Cumberland Police Chief Rick Rieper stated "It is very important in this day and age to be prepared. This is something we never want to see, but we need to be prepared." Thanks to all who helped in this exercise. Barron and Rusk County SWAT, Barron County Sheriff's Department, Cumberland Police Department, Cumberland Hospital and EMTs, Cumberland Fire and two air ambulance helicopters and their crews. Also, many thanks to the numerous volunteers!

Zebra Mussel Decontamination Station Order

On July 1, 2019, the Property Committee of the Barron County Board of Supervisors passed an order requiring the use of a decontamination station, if there is one available, at the landing before launching and after loading of boats to prevent the spread of zebra mussels and other invasive species.

Zebra mussels have been found in many waters within an afternoon's drive of Barron County including the Mississippi River, the St. Louis River in Duluth, the Fox River and Lake Winnebago, and the Wisconsin River.

Once zebra mussels are in a lake, there is no way to control them. They severely disrupt the food chain and create hazards for swimmers with their sharp shells.

Several lake associations in Barron County have been proactive regarding this issue with the installation of decontamination stations. So far, Silver Lake, Bear Lake, and Sand Lake have stations in place.

At these stations you will find a sprayer of a mild (1 oz./gal.) bleach solution. Simply spray it on your boat, trailer, and in the livewell and bilge, and leave it sit for 10 minutes before launching. So, spray the boat as soon as you get to the landing, and by the time things are ready to go, the bleach will have done its job.

If you boat on waters outside of Barron County, please decontaminate your boat at home using the same solution. Even a dry boat will still have areas of water, and the larvae can live for more than a week in these areas.

If a lake association or district is interested in establishing a decontamination station, please contact Tyler Gruetzmacher, County Conservationist, at tyler.gruetzmacher@co.barron.wi.us or 715-537-6246.

Northwoods Notebook: The grandkids are coming. Oh, and the kids, too by Larry Werner

You've probably heard someone say that grandchildren are our reward for enduring parenthood, or some variation of that sentiment. I just happened upon one I like better: "Grandchildren are God's way of compensating us for growing old."

A few weeks back, our youngest grandchild – six-year-old Leo Wistrick – spent a week with us, and he rewarded us daily with his hugs, his beautiful smile and words like these: "I'm staying for two weeks, right?"

No, Leo, only one week. After I dropped him off, his mother asked him what was his favorite thing about his time with Grandpa Larry and Granny Annie.

"Being with them," he said.

"I almost cried," Beth said when she related that exchange at a Father's Day brunch.

Almost? I'm tearing up just writing about his comment.

It's that time of summer: the Fourth of July invasion. We, like many of you, will have a houseful of kids and grandkids. And a niece and nephew will be here with their spouses and kids. Good thing we have a lot of room in our place, and here's hoping this Independence Day is drier than last year's Thunder Fourth.

Nine kids confined even in a large house can be challenging.

If the weather cooperates, we won't be inside much. We'll be on the lake, hang out at the home of Grandma Barb Wistrick, who also lives on Beaver Dam, because she has the swimming dock, jet ski and speedboat. We'll pile onto our pontoon and hers at dusk on Thursday for the traditional oohing and ahing at fireworks, and everyone will stay up too late before they all depart on Friday.

After the last family has hit the road, Ann and I will fall into our chairs exhausted, but filled with the joy of having hosted the grandkids and the grand nieces and nephews. Oh, yes, and our kids and their cousins – the niece, nephew and their spouses.

My niece's seven-year-old son has been here three previous summers. When he arrived last year, he got out of the car and said, "Hi, Grandpa." I started to explain that I'm actually not his grandfather, but his great uncle, and then I stopped. You see, my niece's father died long before her son was born, and young James never knew his Grandpa Jim.

I told him he could call me Grandpa. Is there anything better a child can call a guy?

During these visits, I am reminded of many years ago when my siblings and I would visit my parents at the home where I was raised in Michigan. We adults would talk, play games and eat too much. And the kids – my parents' grandkids – would play among themselves on the little farm where the Werner kids grew up.

My parents would do what we do now during these gatherings. They'd sit and watch their kids and grandkids having fun. We old folks are mostly observers and cooks. My son and daughter have kept in touch with their cousins who live in Chicago and Michigan, and their kids have become friends with the children of their parents' cousins. Third-cousin love, you could call it.

Ann and I will watch it all. We'll get our hugs when they arrive and when they leave. But for the most part, we'll observe these two younger generations having a great summer time on a lake in the north woods of Wisconsin.

The grandkids used to stay after the Fourth for a week my daughter calls "Camp Cumberland." But, the older ones, especially, have gymnastics, soccer and computer camp back in the Cities. And friends. Grandkids grow out of the magic of grandparent time, just as our kids got to the age they wanted to spend time with friends rather than with us.

One of my sad memories is a Saturday long ago when I asked my son, who loved to attend baseball games with me when he was young, if he wanted to go to a Minnesota Twins game.

"With you?" he asked.

But Leo will come again this summer. And so will Paige Werner, even though she's reached the advanced age of 10. My son asked her if she'd like to spend a few days in Cumberland with Ann, me and her brother, who is 8, for a few days in August.

"Both kids were interested," Eric said. "But Paige really wanted to go by herself and have some alone time with her grandparents."

Here come those tears again, and here's another quote I found:

"Grandchildren restore our zest for life, and our faith in humanity."

Larry Werner's email is lhwner47@gmail.com.

Backpacking in the Montana Wilderness

On June 21st fourteen high school youth and six adults from First Lutheran in Cumberland headed out to Montana for an outdoor adventure. They travelled by train to Montana and then spent a day at Flathead Lutheran Bible Camp on Flathead Lake preparing for their trip into the mountains. They then spent three nights backpacking and camping in both the Jewel Basin and the Bob Marshall Wilderness areas. The group was blessed to enjoy the fabulous mountain scenery and the challenge of the adventure. They returned by train on June 29th. The youth group would like to thank the congregation and the community for all of their generous support for the trip.

Cumberland Municipal Utility recognized for Safety Achievements

Thirty-six of Wisconsin's public power utilities were recognized for their outstanding safety achievements in 2018 by Municipal Electric Utilities of Wisconsin (MEUW). Of those, Cumberland Municipal Utility was one of the community-owned utilities that received a Gold Category award in recognition of their commitment and dedication to establishing a strong safety culture.

MEUW's Safety Achievement Awards are designed to recognize leading indicators of safety performance," said Mike Czuprynski, Manager of Safety Services at MEUW. "It is easy to use incidents and injuries to measure safety, however, those metrics focus on lagging indicators. The MEUW Awards are designed to highlight the proactive steps our member utilities are taking to create a stronger safety culture." An application process was developed by MEUW with specific questions to evaluate actions utilities take to foster a culture that promotes safety in the workplace. Utilities that apply and qualify receive a score based on achievements in the prior calendar year. The awards are presented at a ceremony in conjunction with MEUW's Annual Conference, which took place in Delavan on May 17.

Opinion

By Craig Bucher

It was great to read the article on Louies Finer Meats in last weeks Advocate. Louies Finer Meats is a real asset to Cumberland. It is a “Destination” asset for the community. What other community can say that an “international fair” winner is headquartered in a town of 2,163 people? Sharon and I came to Cumberland in 1988, when we purchased the Cumberland Advocate. Shortly after our arrival we met Louis Sr and Doris Muench. It didn’t take us long to become fans of their store and the wonderful quality of the meat products they offer. Over the years we watched the expansion of the business. I remember the first time the company participated in the German sausage meat competition and it was thrilling when they returned home with Gold Medals. Over the years they have continued to support the community. I have talked to customers who tell me that it is not uncommon to take a Sunday drive to Louies to stock up on some favorite brat or sausage. “We are having a grill party and we always serve Louie’s brats. They are simply the best,” one woman said. She purchased six different types of brats. It is great to watch a local family owned business grow and prosper. “My sincere congratulations to all the Muench family and all their employees, who have made and continue to make Louie’s Finer Meats a great business.” Just think! 31 gold medals in international competition.

I hope everyone has a safe and pleasant 4th of July celebration. It is the nations birthday and for me, it causes me to think of all the people and events that have gone before us. I can’t imagine the living conditions our ancestors had to endure. I can’t imagine the horror those men and women endured as they were and are asked fight and die to make sure we can continue to celebrate our nations birthday. Pause a moment, this 4th of July, to reflect on what the holiday really means. It is so much more than just baseball, swimming, hot-dogs and fireworks.

SEE YOU NEXT WEEK!

Dane County growth helps communities well beyond its borders

MADISON, Wis. – If there’s a tangible sign of confidence in the opening of Exact Sciences Discovery Campus on Madison’s West Side, it’s the fact that a nearby parking ramp with spaces for 970 employees at any one time is also ready to go. With 2,300 employees today and immediate openings for 300 more, Exact Sciences cut the ribbon June 26 on a 169,000-square-foot clinical laboratory and warehouse space just south of Madison’s West Beltline. The lab will process samples from people who use the company’s Cologuard screening kit for colorectal cancer, which kills about 50,000 people a year – mostly in cases where the disease was not detected early enough.

The leadership team at Exact Sciences is so confident of the demand for more and better DNA analysis screening that it estimates test totals will climb from 1 million last year to 7 million per year in short order. Handling that many tests and affiliated work will require up to 1,500 employees at various times on Exact’s Discovery Campus, which explains the parking ramp as well as an amenities center with food service to be completed by 2020.

It is just the latest example of how the Dane County economy, which includes a strong dose of well-compensated scientific and technology jobs, is helping to propel Wisconsin forward. That concept is often a tough sell in parts of Wisconsin, where economic growth can still be elusive even years after the end of the Great Recession that peaked about 10 years ago. There are those who envy progress in Dane County and some other hotspots in Wisconsin, wondering what’s in it for them.

One answer to that question is state tax revenue from companies and their employees. Related jobs in construction and service industries is another. Opportunities for young people to stay in Wisconsin versus going elsewhere is yet another reason to celebrate.

The story has been much the same – if not more pronounced – with at least two other Dane County technology giants.

Epic Systems continues to grow in Verona, where it is home to nearly 10,000 employees who work on electronic health records and other health information technologies used across the United States and around the world.

Some 200 million people have a current electronic health record administered by Epic, which has about $3 billion in annual revenues and a physical campus valued at roughly $1 billion on 1,000 acres. Its buildings range from the 11,000-seat Deep Space Auditorium to offices themed around wizards, jungles, dragons and toys. All this from a company that began with two workers in a small office space at 2020 University Avenue.

While Epic may not grow at the same physical pace in the future, it is adding an international reach that wasn’t a part of the company’s business model in earlier years. That could lead to more jobs.

A similar Dane County example is Promega Corp., which has always been a successful biotechnology “tool kit” company and which has recently embarked on a renewed building boom.

Promega makes about 4,000 products used by scientists worldwide in the fields of genomics, cellular analysis, drug discovery and human identification. It has been a fixture in Fitchburg, just south of Madison, for decades. In recent years, the demand for its products has grown sharply – and so has its need for state-of-the-art facilities.

Promega broke ground in early June on a 150,000 square foot manufacturing center. The $155-million project will be built on Sub-Zero Parkway, near Lacy Road and South Seminole Highway in Fitchburg. Already under construction with a 2020 completion date is Promega’s $190-million research and development center on its core campus, the largest building project in company history.

With just those three examples, that’s about 15,000 highly paid workers today and the prospect of more. Personal and corporate income taxes and state sales taxes raised in Dane County don’t just accrue to the “home” county; they go into the general fund to help pay for state government priorities in 71 other counties.

Some would even seek to punish anything “Dane,” even it hurts them in the long run. A better approach is to embrace economic progress anywhere in Wisconsin in the hopes it will uplift parts of the state that could use the help.

A master planning study for the Cumberland Municipal Airport has been completed by Nicholas J. Pela, a professional Airport Planner and Cumberland resident, in association with the engineering firm of Short Elliott and Hendrickson of Chippewa Falls. The study found that the airport is adequate to serve the projected demand for the next 20 years, except that its pavement width should be increased from 60’ to 75’. The runway will accommodate limited use by aircraft as large as the Fairchild F-27 and the Gulfstream II operating at reduced load.

Matthew E. Peterson, 37, of Chetek, has been charged with felony bail jumping. His arraignment is scheduled for September 6, 2019.

Jeremy A. Gackle, 32, of Chetek, has been charged with resisting or obstructing an officer and two counts of felony bail jumping. His preliminary hearing was held June 28, 2019.

Doran M. Ware, 46, of Rice Lake, has been charged with stalking, criminal damage to property, domestic abuse, knowingly violating a domestic abuses injunction, obstructing an officer, and disorderly conduct, domestic abuse.

The criminal complaint states that on Thursday, June 20, 2019, at approximately 3:02 a.m., Sgt. Zimmerman of the Rice Lake Police Department, along with Officer Thon, responded to a residence on South Wisconsin Avenue, in response to a 911 call. The female caller advised that Doran Ware had thrown something in her window and broken the screen.

Sgt. Zimmerman spoke with a male subject, who lives in another apartment. He stated that several minutes before officers arrival in the area, a subject had been running behind his apartment complex. The male subject said he had been sleeping on his bed and had his window open. He heard a bang or crash from the west (which is the direction of the female's apartment). A couple of minutes later, he heard heavy breathing and loud, quick footsteps heading in his direction. He saw a shadow of an individual sprinting past his window on the south side of his apartment heading east toward Wisconsin Avenue.

Sgt. Zimmerman and Officer Thon went to Ware's apartment on Noble Avenue (which is two blocks away). The screen door was locked and lights were off. Sgt. Zimmerman received no response when he knocked and announced. Sgt. Zimmerman called for the assistance of Officer Eckes, and he arrived with his K9.

Officer Eckes gave K9 Cuff the command to track with the search originating on South Wisconsin Avenue. K9 Cuff tracked to 604 Noble Avenue, Apartment #7. Officer Eckes began knocking very loudly on the door, announced the presence of police and giving K9 warnings. Officer Eckes estimates he knocked and announced approximately 15 times in a manner that was so loud that the neighbor's lights were turning on. After receiving no response, Officer Eckes opened the window. K9 Cuff sniffed the window and began barking. When there was still no response from inside the apartment, Officer Eckes entered the residence through the window with K9 Cuff. Officer Eckes gave another K9 announcement while inside the residence. He did not receive any response.

K9 Cuff alerted to the presence of Ware inside the bedroom. Ware was sweating profusely. Officer Eckes ordered Ware to show his hands, but he would not comply. Officer Eckes ordered Ware to stand up and face away from him, and Ware continued to not comply by not standing and not turning around to face away from the officers. Officer Eckes observed Ware inch toward the officers and look down toward the bed. Out of concern for officer safety, Sgt. Zimmerman deployed his taser and Ware was then handcuffed and taken into custody.

Sgt. Zimmerman smelled the strong odor of intoxicants coming from Ware. Officer Thon administered a preliminary breath test with a result of .18.

Sgt. Zimmerman spoke with the female subject about what happened before police arrived. She said she had been sleeping and woke up around 2:30 a.m. She said she had been on the phone with her current boyfriend for approximately 30 minutes.

The caller said that they utes. She hung up and was about to go to the bathroom when something hit her window causing the screen and window holder to break into the room. She said she heard Ware swear at her. She then screamed that she was calling the police. She said she knew it was Ware because they had been together for approximately four years, had lived together, and she knew his voice. Officer Thon notes that Ware has a very distinct voice.

A check of the public records show that on September 2, 2016, a Domestic Abuse Injunction was issued. Ware was present in court and personally served with the order, which ordered that he refrain from committing acts or threats of domestic abuse against the female subject.

The female subject said she got away, after begging Ware to return her keys and leave her alone and went to a friend's residence. She said she returned to the residence an hour later because Ware said he had cut his wrists and was going to the hospital. She said her plan was to change the locks and call the police, but as she entered the residence, Ware was waiting for her behind the door.

She said Ware shut the door quickly and wouldn't let her leave, she said they continued to argue. Ware came towards her trying to take her keys, so she maced him in the face and tried to leave. Ware then grabbed her, pushed her away from the door, and hit her in the back of the head. She pulled out her phone and called 911, but Ware grabbed the phone and smashed it. He then went to a sink to wash out his eyes, at which point the police arrived.

She was unable to recall the specific date, but described to Sgt. Zimmerman another incident when she was living at the apartment, that Ware had been hiding in her basement. She said over the last three years they have been separated, Ware has stalked her and she is in fear for her safety because of how close he is living to her.

If convicted Ware may be fined not more than $41,000 or imprisoned for not more than six years and three months or both. His arraignment is scheduled for July 3, 2019.

Amber Hirsch, 30, of Cumberland, has been charged with misdemeanor theft, and felony bail jumping. (Failure to comply with the terms of her bond by committing a new crime while on bond).

The criminal complaint states that on June 27, 2019, Rice Lake Police Officer Koenig, received a call from the corporate office of Old Southern BBQ, which is located in Minneapolis, MN.

The caller said that they

Cumberland; The Summer of 1929

by Mark Fuller

The Great Depression began on "Black Thursday," October 24, 1929. Within four days, stock market prices fell 23 percent and at its height, unemployment grew to 25 percent as the US gross domestic product was cut in half. This worldwide economic crisis would last for the next ten years.

Looking back at the Island City earlier that summer, however, one would have seen the very normal activities that were part of that period in our history.

As it does today, although not the official date, summer began with the high school graduation the last week in May. Forty-four graduates received their diplomas, with Philip Hedback being named Valedictorian. Ben Sirianni was also honored as what was thought to be the first ever 12-athletic letter winner in school history.

Earlier in May, the annual Golf Club Meeting had set prices for the upcoming summer. Stockholding men would have to pay only $12.50 for their membership, while stockholding women would pay a yearly cost of $5.00 and their kids $3.00. Non-stockholders would have to pay the exorbitant additional amount of $2.50 each for their summer of play. League play was common with competition between other communities a weekly event.

The Wisconsin Conservation Commission also used that May to check out our area lakes. A spokesman for the group, Henry Mielke, called Beaver Dam Lake, "One of the best lakes for pike in the area. Their findings said the fish in the lake were, "Far larger than the ordinary run, with our largest of 1,620 trapped to weigh over twenty pounds and many going as high as 16 to 18 pounds."

The Conservation Commission also announced that muskellunge fry would be placed in several lakes around Cumberland and they would continue to remove suckers from Beaver Dam Lake, 800 of which had already been taken.

Visitors, as well as locals, would take advantage of that excellent Beaver Dam Lake fishing that summer. Tourists, by spending vacations in the summer cottages that the Advocate said were "common and well patronized" around the lake. Those renters would come from Chicago to Pennsylvania.

Baseball was a major entertainment with six local youth teams active as well as numerous local men's teams playing games from Cable to Chetek and all around the area.

An article from June 20 described a Sunday afternoon contest between the Cumberland Men's Team and Timberland, played in Shell Lake. Won by Cumberland 10-2, the biggest concern of the contest were "several flies and long foul balls that found their way into the lake." To help complete the game, it was decided to move Martin Wandry from right to left field as he was "an expert swimmer," who had a better chance of retrieving some of these balls. One could look for many years and never find that as a reason for a position switch again.

For the kids, 4-H was a big part of their months away from school. The Advocate reported that 408 kids were part of 4-H in Barron County with 335 completing their projects for the August Fair.

Other entertainment included visits to the Zim Zim Theatre to see the latest movie. June included the installation of a voicophone, allowing for talkies, which had first come on the scene in 1927.

A large enthusiastic crowd attended the first ever talkie in town "Lucky Boy," on June 27. The Advocate congratulated the Zimmerman family for their "Efforts to supply Cumberland and vicinity with the latest in the theatre line." Opening showings took place at 2:30, 7:15 and 9:00 pm.

Early July saw the first run of the newly named Stokley Canning factory. Recently renamed from the "Fame Canning Company," a new building that summer kept only the old boiler room in its 500x85 foot plant. Although not part of the summer entertainment, it provided an income for numerous residents who helped put up 200,000 cases of vegetables before closing on November 5.

By now, the automobile was becoming a bigger source of transportation to and from these events. It was reported that by 1929, 75 percent of all households now owned a vehicle. Wisconsin had joined those states requiring a license to drive earlier in 1929 even though it did not require a road test until 1956.

The August 8 Advocate, had a long list of new Wisconsin Legislature driving requirements which it asked readers to "read carefully." Among the highlighted requirements included stopping for frightened animals, pedestrian rights and the requirement for slower vehicles to keep right.

The next week, the August 15 paper covered the City Baseball Team's last game of the summer, a 24-6 rout of Spooner, in which Julius Alfonse would hit three home runs. The paper would go on to say, however, "for some unknown reason, the umpire would say he missed home plate and would call him out on one of his blasts."

Two weeks later, the announcement of the beginning of a new school year filled the front page. Football season was underway and leaves would soon begin to turn color. Fred Moser, would a few weeks later, become Cumberland's new High School Principal and the Rutabaga harvest was underway.

Little did we know then, that two months later on October 24 and for several years beyond, life would offer a few more challenges for our area residents. Through it all, however, there would always be another summer just a few months away. It always was and always will be that way in the Island City.

Congrats!

Cumberland baseball umpire Ritchie Narges was selected to umpire at the State All Star games held in Oshkosh last weekend. Congratulations Narge!

An Outdoorsman's Journal

by Mark Walters

Canada Gang 2019

Hello friends,

One of the most important parts of my past, present and future is my relationship with the folks at Chimo Lodge and Outposts. This may seem odd to you but I have been going to Chimo's outposts since 1982. I have worked as their camp manager at Chimo Lodge and in 1989 started this column while working at Chimo.

Last year when I heard my close friends Pete and Elizabeth Hagedorn had sold Chimo a part of me actually died. In reality much of whom I am is Chimo and I thought it may be over. I am pleased to say that the new owners Chris and Tammy LeBlanc and Daniel Wesolowski are doing an excellent job of what was a natural sale for the Hagedorn's who are both in their 80's.

This past week I returned to Schultz lake with a group of eight family members and friends and it was probably our best trip ever.

Monday, June 17th
High 72, low 50

We are all part of the same duck, deer and ice fishing camps, we attend a ton of weddings together, as well as graduations, we debate but don't argue, we are tough and most important, we are fun.

Today would be day three at Schultz Lake on a trip where I would see it at least start to get light out every night. The wind would blow out of the east every day, it did not rain and last August much of the shoreline on this lake was hit by what is very natural, and that is a forest fire.

I was here in 95 when another fire burnt much of the area and it is an incredible experience.

One of the many themes of this years trip would be black bear. On the drive up we just about hit one. The night before we flew into the bush we camped at Pete and Elizabeth Hagedorn's and a bear got into our coolers and boxes while we were sleeping no more than 20-feet away.

That same bear broke into the home that the pilots live in that fly for Superior Air, also owned by the LeBlanc's, and raised a lot of heck just before it hit our camp.

My brother Tom has flown up from Louisiana with his 11-year-old grandson Nathan Woodruff. Tom has four grandsons and each year makes the journey, this would be Nathan' second trip and yesterday he caught what would be our big walleye of the week at 27.5 inches.

Yesterday I was was fishing with my stepson Joe Dushek and my daughter Selina. It is was an awesome experience. Joe is 25, Selina is 18. We have a blast together and it is really fun to listen to these two as they talk all day long and are pretty good at catching fish as well as taking whatever hardships Mother Nature throws at them. We also saw a bear on the shoreline yesterday as well.

My brother in law Dick "Schiester" I mean Schuster is up with his 30 and 26 year-old boys Riley and Trent. Both Riley and Trent really wanted me to write that uncle Mark caught what would be the winning northern pike for the week on day one at 38-inches. Don't worry Trent, when I die you might beat me!

Then there is Jeff Moll! Jeff and I have been buddies since I started beating him in wrestling matches back in middle school "slight exaggeration." Jeff seems to have taken a magic pill as this year he has so much energy he is like a kangaroo with wings.

If Jeff is not mercilessly wrestling one of the kids on the kitchen floor, he is trying but getting his hiney kicked in another fishing bet. My buddy Moll and I became blood brothers back in the 80's while sitting around a campfire and if I ever do or say anything "awkward" blame Jeff!

As has become the norm, this morning Jeff, Riley, Trent, Joe, and I were gabbing and laughing as night became day and well aware that we had four days left in PARADISE!

The turbine otter that flew "The Canada Gang" to Schultz Lake.

It doesn't get any better than this!

Cumberland Healthcare Foundation Presents 6th Annual Golf Classic

The Cumberland Healthcare Foundation's 7th Annual Golf Classic took place on Tuesday, June 18, 2019, at the Cumberland Golf Club. The event was very successful, bringing in over $18,000 to benefit the Cumberland Healthcare Foundation.

The Golf Classic featured a 9-hole golf scramble, dinner catered by The Turn Restaurant, games and a raffle.

"The Cumberland Healthcare Foundation is proud to have offered this event for the seventh year in a row," says Angie Martens, Chief Financial Officer at Cumberland Healthcare. "The event has become more successful every year. We want to thank the many golfers, sponsors, businesses and healthcare staff that contributed to this great event and their generosity of giving."

The Cumberland Healthcare Foundation is a non-profit organization that raises funds to provide the highest quality of patient care for the community. All proceeds from the Golf Classic will benefit Cumberland Healthcare.

All Star Game!

Cumberland's Lauren Green was selected to and played in the Wisconsin Fastpitch Softball Coaches Association Senior All Star Series held in Wisconsin Dells on June 18. A total of 18 teams participated raising over $100,000 for Special Olympics. Congratulations Lauren!

Barronett News By Judy Pieper

Happy Independence Day!

In honor of those fighting to keep America independent, Pastor Todd read the commentary given when the Bronze Star was awarded to Ken (Stub) Grover for his acts of valor in our Philippine Islands during WWII. Ken was with the Medical Corps and risked his health and life while in Japanese captivity to help and comfort other soldiers suffering from terrible illnesses caused from heat and jungle living. Ken also survived the Bataan Death March. We are so accustomed to our comfortable lives that it is hard to imagine the terrible suffering those men went through, and I'm glad that Pastor Todd reminds us on these special holidays that keeping America free is not something to take for granted. We want to thank all our current and past military personnel for their service to our country.

Tommy Olson, who is Gary Rahn's cousin, and his girlfriend, Ashley, traveled up from Chicago for a visit this past week. Lots of family members came to visit with Tommy and Ashley, and on Saturday, they had an impromptu birthday celebration and cookout for Gary's son-in-law, Matt Brice. Because of Matt's love for Chicago sports teams (Sharai added boo-hiss to that) Sharai put the Chicago Cubs' baseball emblem on Matt's birthday cake. Guests at the party/cookout were: Deb Rahn and her significant other, Richard Gagner, Carol Rahn-Drexel and her son, Ron Drexel, Jr.; Matt, Tiffany, Fox and Rosie Brice; Tommy and Ashley; and of course, Sharai and Gary. Everyone had a wonderful time visiting, enjoying the delicious food, laughing and catching up on all the family news.

Oh, Sharai said that Diane (Rahn) Ladd also celebrated a birthday on June 28th, so, happy belated birthday, Diane.

Merl and Shirley Overvig traveled up from River Falls last Friday to visit with friends in the area. They visited with Geri Pitman, the elusive Barronett couple, who shall remain nameless, Dick and Ruth Grover, and Duane and me. Shirley never comes to visit empty-handed, and she brought a delicious carrot cake to have with coffee at each house. We had an absolutely wonderful time visiting with them and still wish they would decide to move back to Barronett where they belong. (Well, their kids might think otherwise, but we want them back here).

Lynn Thon had a house full of company this past week. Her little friends from Cornell, Brayden, Caleigh and Alyssa, came to stay while their mom attended a music festival. Austin, their older brother, couldn't come with them this year because he is working. Hard to believe he's that grown up already. Anyway, they had lots of fun playing with Kaitlynn and Jessica Holmen, Tru Lehmann and Kane Thon. On Sunday they went to Rice Lake to see the movie "Aladdin," which they enjoyed thoroughly. After the movie Kane entertained everyone in the theatre by dancing to the music during the credits.

Duane and I went over to the Hungry Hollow Steam and Gas Engine Show on Saturday. It is so interesting to see those old engines working. One very interesting exhibit was the sawmill. There was an old steam engine, with a belt that had to be at least fifty feet long, operating a huge saw. Men were feeding huge logs into the saw and cutting them into boards. It was amazing how uniform they could cut that lumber using antique equipment.

Bob Russel joined the Hungry Hollow Club this year, and was there working with the other blacksmiths, making nails. That was fun to watch. They would get a metal peg red hot, put it in a vise to shape it, pound the top to make the head and then dip it in water to cool it down. They were giving the finished nails to children who were watching. Bob said that maybe that will make them interested in blacksmithing.

Terry Goodrich, aka the friendly neighborhood moocher, has had what is probably a record number of bear sightings this year, nine, to be exact. Seven of those were while he was in his car, and two at his house. The one he spotted was when he was hanging clothes on the line and heard his dogs carrying on. He went to check, and the dogs were looking toward the barn. There, about 50 feet away, was one of the biggest bears Terry had ever seen. It very slowly walked around the house and out of sight. When he goes outside now Terry is pretty careful to check around the house to see if he has any unwanted guests.

Maria Morrison is catching up fast in the bear sighting contest. She has seen eight bears around her place. She saw two young ones, she thinks they are last year's cubs, while she was out walking. One started coming toward her and she continued walking backward so she could keep an eye on it. She was a little nervous, so she called her son and he came to pick her up. In the meantime, the little bears ambled away, one in one direction and the other in the other. Scary! I think I would cower indoors for the rest of the summer if that happened to me.

I guess that's about all I know from Barronett this week. Hope you enjoy all the 4th of July festivities. See you next time.

Jazz by Indigo Quartet July 9

On a cold winter night last January, a jazz group known as the Indigo Quartet warmed up a sold-out Cumberland Arts Center with hot music. That jazz quartet is back on July 9 to fill the downtown air with its tunes from the Library Lake stage.

In the fifth concert of the summer Island City Music series, guitarist Dustin DeGolier and his band mates will play from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. The concert is sponsored by Louie's Finer Meats, DeGolier's former employer. Food will be served by the Barronett Civic Club from its Little Red Caboose.

Enrichment Through Culture (ETC) is the overall sponsor of the Tuesday concerts, which are in their third year. The concerts are free. You should bring your own lawn chairs.

The Cumberland School District's kayaks are available on concert nights at the dock on the south end of the lake. If it rains, the concert will be held at Nezzzy's Isle Event Center.

This week:

The Great Unexpected: A Novel
by Dan Mooney

c. 2019, Park Row Books • $15.99 • 358 pages

You had your reasons.

That's what you tell people after you've made a decision. Things were left up to you, you looked at the possibilities, and there was no need for discussion. You had your reasons, and because it is a good enough one. But, as in the new book, "The Great Unexpected" by Dan Mooney, you can be reasoned with.

Mr. Miller could always keep a secret.

That was because he was in a coma, which was just fine with his roommate, Joel Monroe. Miller didn't fill the time with inane chit-chat and Joel didn't have to be concerned with niceties. Miller kept to himself. After Joel's wife, Lucey, died, Joel wished everybody at Hilltop Nursing Home was more like Miller.

Given that, it seems odd to say that Joel was lonesome, but he was. Miserable and grumpy, too. Then Miller died, and it reminded Joel of Lucey's death, which made him feel worse, even though Nurse Liam and Nurse Angelica were nice; even though Joel had a daughter who dutifully spent a half-hour a week visiting; even though she brought her adult children, who obviously weren't interested in their grandfather.

Joel knew it was time to investigate suicide options, "before something else killed him."

And then a new resident moved into the empty bed next to Joel's.

Frank de Selby was a noisy "popinjay" with a fake accent and a fake name. de Selby (real name: Frank Adams) wore scarves with affectation, kissed ladies hands, was oh-so-witty, spoke like a Shakespearean, and told everyone that he was a former actor. Joel hated him.

He hated Frank – at first, anyhow, but then Joel realized that Frank wasn't such a bad guy after all. Without being asked, Frank helped Joel out of a couple of tight spots with the Home staff, and he didn't make Joel watch those insufferable soap operas. He even helped take notes when Joel told Frank about his plan to die.

Joel was intent on suicide. He wanted to kill himself with meaning, though, and he was ready to go – but was he ready to leave so much behind?

Of course, you've already figured out that this book is a charmer. You might clearly see that it's got humorous elements, too, but you really can expect so much more in "The Great Unexpected."

Yes, Frank and Joel are pretty well predictable as characters in a novel set in a nursing home but here, author Dan Mooney gives them sass, peppery language, and fits-with-today backgrounds that allows richer dimension to explain them better. Their miles-apart personalities enhance the story: Frank has justification for playing the dandy, Joel ruminates about a life spent as a laborer, and readers learn about them as they learn about each other. Happily, this unfolds between lines of text that match the title: unexpected, and uproariously, spit-your-coffee hilarious.

So, "The Great Unexpected" is differently predictable but its sauciness may give some readers pause. Just keep that in mind, flow with it, and you might love this novel beyond all reason.

If you're in search of something great to take in the car, on vacation, on the tractor, or to the lunchroom, Terri can be reached at bookwormsez@yahoo.com. Happy Reading!

Violet H. Carlson

Violet Hildegard Carlson, 99, of Cumberland, passed away peacefully on November 28, 2018 after a seven year stay at Cumberland Care and Rehab. She was born on January 24, 1919 in Duluth, Minnesota to Andrew and Hannah Nelson. Violet graduated from Denfeld High School as an honor student. She married Willard Carlson and they had two children together, Lauralye Pedersen-Beck and Robert Carlson.

Violet was fond of winter sports and stock car racing. She loved the outdoors, including camping and fishing. Winter was always Violet's favorite season. She also loved sewing, reading, and traveling.

She was preceded in death by her parents: Andrew and Hannah Nelson; her husband: Willard Carlson; her son: Robert Carlson; Sister: Helen Olson; Brother: Wallace Nelson; her son-in-law: Harley Pedersen, grandson: Craig Pedersen and her son-in-law: Allen Beck. Violet is survived by brother: Harry Nelson; Daughter: Lauralye Pedersen; Grandsons: Kevin (Julie) Pedersen, Randy (Tracy) Pedersen, and Jason (Amy) Carlson; great grandchildren: Jennifer, Ashley, Shanley, Krista, Megan, Jacob, and Jared Pedersen; Six great-great grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews. Violet lived in Minnesota, Florida, and Wisconsin. She was a long standing member at Trinity Lutheran Church in McKinley.

A Memorial Service will be held at Trinity Lutheran Church in McKinley on Saturday, July 6, 2019 at 11 AM with Rev. Diane House officiating.

Skinner Funeral Home of Cumberland is serving the family.

Larry Ritchie

Larry Wayne Ritchie, 76, of Cumberland, passed away at his home on June 14, 2019. Larry was born on April 30, 1943 in Cumberland, WI to Virgil and Irene Ritchie.

Larry was a Navy Vietnam veteran. He spent 45 years in California working as a welder/boilermaker and machinist. He taught welding for San Diego Community College.

Larry is survived by his wife of 37 years, Sonja, and children: Dave (Maruja) Ritchie and Amy (Kevin) Hanson; four grandsons, and two great granddaughters and one great grandson. He is also survived by two brothers: Dennis (Linda) Ritchie and Mike (Barb)

Ritchie. He leaves behind one uncle, two aunts and many cousins, nephews and nieces.

Larry suffered from Alzheimer's for many years and died from this terrible disease. His ashes will be returned home. There will be no memorial service at this time.

Eugene R. Soltau

Eugene Raymond "Gene" Soltau, 77, of Cumberland died Wednesday, June 26, 2019 at his home. He was born August 8, 1941 in Cumberland, WI to Irvin and Laura (Strenke) Soltau, Sr. He was married in St. Paul Lutheran Church, Cumberland on October 31, 1963 to Wanda Johnson. Gene worked for Bents Motors for over 30 years as an Allis Chalmers mechanic, followed by S & S Tractor for 14 years. He loved cutting firewood and hunting.

Gene is survived by his loving wife, Wanda of Cumberland; children: Tim Soltau of Cameron, Terry Soltau of Cameron, Lisa (Rob) Buchholz of Cumberland and Jamey Soltau of Cumberland; grandchildren: Amanda Buchholz, Shane Buchholz, Devan Soltau, Terry Soltau, Jr., Christopher Soltau; great-granddaughters: Freya Soltau and Elliott "Peanut" Kilcoyne; sister, Joan Hauck of Cameron; sister-in-law, Shirley (Eischen) Soltau of Turtle Lake; nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

Church Directory

"Freedom"

By: Pastor John Miels
St. Paul Lutheran Church

Kicking a dead horse trying to get more work out of it is useless. We all know people who are indifferent to spiritual needs, who do not feel the weight of sin, are much like a dead horse. They are dead-spiritually and feel nothing when we speak the truth of scripture to them. They are bound in chains of their sin and do not even know it. The Bible calls them slaves to sin, no freedom or peace.

On the other hand, a Christian is usually more conscious of personal unworthiness-in the sight of God-than a careless unbeliever. King David admitted: "I know my transgressions, and my sin is always before me" (Psalm 51: 3 NIV) The apostle Paul, lamented: "I know that nothing good lives in me... What a wretched man I am!" (Romans 7: 18,24 NIV).

People who walk in darkness are unconscious of smudges on their bodies; but if they walk into the light, they immediately become conscious of how filthy they are.

Christians walk in light. Walking in the Light of Life, Jesus, the more conscious we become of our soiled garments. The law does its work on us, and "Shows Our Sin" (SOS). We need someone to save us, we need freedom.

The very fact that Christians are concerned with their sin is a good thing; it means we are alive in Christ and the Holy Spirit is doing His work on us to confess and repent. The Holy Spirit shows us Christ's merits delivers us forgiveness. He frees us. The Bible defines what sin is, not the culture and we find we are all sinners in God's sight. The Bible also tells us: "Whenever our hearts condemn us... God is greater than our hearts," (1 John 3:20 NIV) God is greater than our hearts! He looks at us baptized into Christ's death and resurrection (Rom. 6:3-5, Gal. 3:27, 1 Cor 6:11) and sees Christ and not our sins. In Christ there is abundant pardon and mercy; won on the cross and given in His Word and Sacraments. As the apostle Paul assures us, "Therefore, there is now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus" (Romans 8: 1 NIV).

Forgiven sinners have real and eternal freedom. Experience freedom, worship where Jesus meets sinners and gives them His abundance of mercy and grace.

Life on the Family Farm Under an Open Heaven

By: Tom Heck

An Overwhelming Success

Springtime on the farm is always a wonderful season, as the earth comes alive again, and the old winter is finally behind us. It's exciting getting out in the fields and working the land and putting the tiny seeds into the ground, anticipating a bountiful harvest later in the season. Sometimes we don't always get the harvest we hope for, but once in awhile we get far more than our wildest dreams.

Such is what happened many years ago on my parents' dairy farm. Their farm had a lot of very steep, hilly land on it that we had to keep in hay almost constantly. It also had some nice rolling land and some flat land. Since we didn't have much level land, that always got planted to corn.

We had one, twelve acre field that was flat except for one small sandy knoll in it. The rest of it was a sandy loam soil that grew beautiful crops of corn always. Well, the 1980's came along and one year the government came out with the PIK program that paid farmers to leave half of their corn ground lie idle in order to raise the price of corn. My dad signed up for the program along with most other farmers.

One of the requirements of the program was that you had to put a cover crop on the land and clip it once or twice during the growing season. My brother and I suggested to my dad that we put that twelve acre field in the program since we had never had it out of corn for all the years we had owned it. My dad thought it was a good idea, so we did it.

For a cover crop, most farmers seeded the land down with a small amount of oats; it was cheap and met the program's requirement. But, we got talking, and said, "Why not put a little alfalfa seed in with it and then that will put nitrogen in the soil, which will be beneficial since we plan on putting it back into corn the following year." Pa didn't really want to stick extra money in it, so we told him to go into town and buy one, fifty pound bag of the cheapest alfalfa seed he could get. And so he did.

Well, it came time to seed the field down, and so we set the grain drill down to just four pounds per acre. We got the whole field seeded down with one bag of the cheapest alfalfa seed we could get. If I remember right, I think it was Vernal. And then we clipped it during the summer.

The next year came and we hooked the plow up to the tractor to plow it under. We got out there and we couldn't do it. That field had the most beautiful stand of alfalfa on it. We didn't have another field on the whole farm that matched it. We ended up putting some other ground into corn instead.

We ended up leaving that field in hay for a number of years after that and took tremendous crops of hay off of it. What an overwhelming success, we could hardly believe it!

Over the years, I have bought a fair bit of alfalfa seed; normally the seed salesman will recommend seeding it at fifteen to twenty-five pounds per acre. When I tell them about my dad's field years ago they always respond, "Well, if you had a real good seedbed, you could do it."

Well, I always try to have a real good seedbed, and I always go for ten to twelve pounds per acre to be on the safe side. And I've always had excellent stands of hay. I was blessed to read an article by Dan Undersander of UW Madison in 2017 telling that 10 pounds of live seed per acre was plenty adequate with good seedbed preparation.

It's nice in farming and in life when something turns out far better than we would ever dream possible. Like my dad's hayfield. But, I know one thing that has far exceeded that in my own life, that's in following my Lord and Saviour all these years. It's far above and beyond what I could have ever expected. That doesn't mean that life is always easy, or a bed of roses, but walking with Jesus everyday through it all, is the greatest life possible. I wouldn't trade it for all the riches and pleasures in the world.

contact with Hirsch and she admitted to taking the $40. She stated he put the cash in her pocket instead of the till after ringing up customers, and that she did this for two transactions as she needed the money for child care.

Hirsch was released on bond on June 12, 2019, from a previous case with one of the conditions being that she not commit any crime.

If convicted she may be fined not more than $20,000 or imprisoned for not more than six years and nine months, or both.

Her preliminary hearing is scheduled for July 3, 2019.

Extreme Heat Dangers

by Mike Judy, Director of Emergency Services
Barron County Sheriff's Dept.

The Barron County Sheriff's Department would like to take this opportunity to remind our residents and visitors about the dangers associated with extreme heat.

Many victims of heat-related deaths are socially isolated, maintaining little contact with family and friends. That is why it's important to check on family, friends, and neighbors during extreme heat conditions.

Those most vulnerable include very young children, the elderly, and people with heart disease or high blood pressure. Individuals who are on certain medications may also be more susceptible to illness during extreme heat events. It's important to remember that you are most at risk in cars and homes with little or no air conditioning.

Barron County Emergency Services is prepared to open cooling centers during periods of extreme heat, which are great places to get away from the weather and enjoy the company or your friends and neighbors. If you are in need of a cooling center during extreme heat conditions, please contact the Barron County 911 Center at 715-537-3106.

Signs and symptoms of heat-related illnesses include: Nausea, vomiting, headaches, and low blood pressure (which can quickly lead to fainting).

Extreme heat can also cause: hyperthermia, with early stages producing heat exhaustion; which include symptoms of: Heavy sweating, rapid breathing, and fast/weak pulse.

If conditions progress, a heat stroke can also occur.

Young children, in particular, may experience seizures.

Here are some basic safety tips to remember:

- Stay cool in air-conditioned buildings as much as possible and avoid direct sunlight.

- Stay hydrated by drinking plenty of water and don't wait until you're thirsty to drink.

- Never leave children or pets unattended in a vehicle

- Stay informed by watching your local weather forecasts so you can plan activities safely when it's hot outside. Watch for extreme heat alerts.

Barron County Emergency Services is prepared to open cooling centers during periods of extreme heat, which are great places to get away from the weather and enjoy the company or your friends and neighbors. If you are in need of a cooling center during extreme heat conditions, please contact the Barron County 911 Center at 715-537-3106.

4th of July...

for the first public reading of the Declaration by Colonel John Nixon.

Other 4th of July facts:

- Three Presidents have died on July 4th, Thomas Jefferson, John Adams (1826) and James Monroe (1831).

- The first 4th of July celebration at the White House was hosted by Declaration author and our third President, Thomas Jefferson, in 1804 and the first celebration west of the Mississippi was held in 1805 at Independence Creek by the explorers Lewis and Clark.

- The corner stone of the Washington Monument was laid by President Zachary Taylor on July 4, 1850. (Taylor became ill with cholera that night and died five days later).

- According to legend, Betsy Ross was commissioned by the Declaration committee in June of 1776 to make the first flag. That flag featured 13 stars in a circle on a blue field, so that no one state would be above another.

So fly your flags, light off some fireworks and join in the "Great Anniversary Festival...from one end of this continent to the other"

Have a safe and happy 4th of July!

2019 Meat Products Contest Champions Announced; Louies Honored

Grand Champion, 1st Reserve Champion and 2nd Reserve Champion to be sold during the Governor's Blue Ribbon Meat Products Auction, benefitting Wisconsin 4-H Youth

The Governor's Blue Ribbon Meat Products Auction is back at the Wisconsin State Fair celebrating its 28th year. You are invited to join us on August 6th, 2019 in the Wisconsin Exposition Center (new location!) for another Blue Ribbon winning year. Registration begins at 5:30 pm and the live auction begins at 6:30 pm. Tickets are $30 and can be purchased at the door or in advance by calling the Wisconsin 4-H Foundation Office, 608-262-1597 or by going online to www.Wis4HFoundation.org.

Stars of the evening will include the Grand Champion, 1st Reserve Champion and 2nd Reserve Champion meat products from all categories of the 2019 Meat Products Contest, as well as the 2019 Best in Show product. Best of Show is selected from entries across the state that were judged and is announced at the auction.

Cumberland's own Louie's Finer Meats was named Bone-In Ham Grand Champion, Flavored Summer Sausage Grand Champion, Dried or Smoked Beef Grand Champion, and Dry/Semi-Dry Sausage Grand Champion.

Last year, Governor Walker encouraged attendees to raise their bidder cards high for Wisconsin 4-H youth. In total, over $100,000 was raised in 2018, and sights are set for a record-breaking amount in 2019. Auction's proceeds support Wisconsin 4-H activities including 4-H conferences, teaching materials and workshops, and overall development of 4-H youth.

Please join us at the Governor's Blue Ribbon Meat Products Auction August 6, 2019 for another record breaking year.

We Congratulate to all the meat processors from across the state who participated in this year's competition.
