Work is really progressing at the new Cumberland Healthcare Campus. The new state of the art facility is scheduled to open in the spring of 2023.

A View from the Lake

by Tom Schroeder

President, Beaver Dam Lake Management District

The middle of August is here, Rutabaga Festival begins next week and the summer of 2022 is all but in the sunset. Up to the past few weeks what a summer it has been, with weeks of hot weather and little but timely rains. Hopefully, the rest of August and Sept. will provide good at the lake weather.

The BDLMD Annual Meeting was held on July 9th with 40 residents in attendance. I explained the Annual Newsletter was late due to the Printing Company changing ownership, supply side materials and available labor issues. Adjustments have been made to the schedule for 2023 so the letter will be sent out on time. The budget was approved, which again for the 13th year will hold the tax levy at the same mill rate, yet allow for expenditures to cover EWM treatment, Library Lake SE pond construction, new grant applications and other Lake District needs. Two commissioner terms expired, however, Mike Werner agreed to serve another term and Tim Defoe had submitted a nomination application. Absent any additional nominations from those in attendance, Mike and Tim were unanimously approved. During the open comment session, the major concern voiced by those present centered on various types of water craft creating large waves. Based on the many comments that were voiced, it is apparent many watercraft operators lack knowing and understanding WI. Boating Regulations and overall acceptable boating etiquette. The Sand Lake wave ordinance was discussed as an option for Beaver Dam Lake. An ordinance was not seen as viable approach to addressing watercraft usage concerns on Beaver Dam Lake. A motion was made and passed for the BDLMD to update signage at the boat landings especially pertaining to boating regulations and to create written information to communicate the lake culture BDLMD members promote to all Lake District residents and visitors. A committee has been formed to address the stated concerns of the motion.

The team working on updating the Library Lake - Lake Management Plan is close to finalizing the draft plan. A public hearing/meeting to review the plan will be scheduled soon with approvals by the WDNR, Barron County, and the City of Cumberland to follow.

I am encouraged by the volunteers that have come forward to manage the Lake District website, become lake monitors for taking secchi disk readings and water samples, manage placing and removing navigation buoys, and joining committees to review the Library Lake management Plan and the fund raising for dredging/restoring Library Lake. If you are interested in becoming involved with the BDLMD contact me.

The 2022 treatment for EWM was completed during June with the July plant survey showing encouraging results. The planned treatment of Cemetery Bay was prevented by the highway 48 bridge construction obstructing movement of the necessary equipment for the herbicide application. Hopefully the 2023 treatment for EWM will be minimal.

I continue to be amazed by the damage that is done to the navigation buoys. So far this year three buoys have needed to be repaired due to props cutting through the buoys shell and one due to people playing on it which caused water to enter the inside cavity. A number of adults were observed throwing stones at the buoys at the Narrows just 4 days after a new buoy replaced a damaged one. There are substantial fines associated with damaging, moving or playing with navigation buoys. Please leave the buoys alone. They are provided for everyone's safety.

I want to remind boat operators to not allow passengers on their pontoon to ride on the front deck that is absent guard rails or on the gunnels or railings while under power. There are numerous websites that show what can happen to people being struck by engine props. Please operate your watercraft responsibly.

The BDLMD will be applying for various grants again this fall. The major grant application will be for constructing Phase 2 for the SE storm water pond. More updates will be coming in the near future. Enjoy the remaining lake season and I will see you on the lake!

Cameron Man Arrested for Possession of Child Pornography

Duane Wisner

On Thursday, August 11, 2022, the Barron County Sheriff's Department arrested Duane Wisner, 58, of Cameron, for possession of child pornography after a several month investigation with the Department of Criminal Investigation.

On August 12, 2022, Wisner was charged in Barron County Court with possession of child pornography and given a $5,000.00 signature bond and released with the condition that he not use the internet unless at work for work.

Mr. Wisner was previously investigated in 2006 by our department and found guilty of possession of child pornography and child sexexploitation at that time. Wisner was sentenced and served a prison term for that case.

We want to thank the Department of Criminal Investigation for their assistance in that case.

Musical Comedy Closes Out Red Barn 61st Season

The musical comedy, “Don’t Hug Me, We’re Married,” opens a 10-night run on the Red Barn stage on August 24 and goes through September 3 (with no show on Sunday). Directing a cast of talented comedians and musicians, Terry Wiesner wields a deft hand pacing the laughs, songs and dance in this entertaining production, the final of the RBT’s 61st season. Well known Hardscrabble Player, Allison Rick, is directing the choreography. “Don’t Hug Me, We’re Married” is the fifth show in the smash hit “Don’t Hug Me” series of musical comedies by Phil and Paul Olson. Set in a small bar in Bunyan Bay, MN, owners Gunner and Clara Johnson separately realize that the romance has left their long time marriage. And so it’s time for a romance rekindling. Adding to the action is the blossoming love between waitress Bernice and karaoke salesman Aarvid and also between Trigger (twin sister of Gunner) and Kanute, a local businessman. Local performers include Mark Nymo (Rice Lake) as Gunner; Jill Stearns (Rice Lake) as Clara; Allison Rick (Barron) as Bernice; Jackson Liedl (Cumberland) as Kanute; Mary Ann Gunn (Trego) as Trigger; and Ben Heer (Rice Lake) as Arvid. Ben Heer’s pen and ink cartoons will be featured in the Red Barn Gallery. Reservations for this fifth and final production of the Hardscrabble Players 61st season may be made by calling 715-234-8301 or going online at redbarntheatre-ricelake.com. All performances begin at 7:30 pm. Single admission tickets are $18. The Red Barn is located northeast of Rice Lake, WI at the junction of Highway 48 and County Road M.

“Don’t Hug Me, We’re Married” a musical comedy at the Red Barn Theater opens a 10 night run on August 24th.

Northwoods Notebook: Island City Music: a brief history

By Larry Werner

At the Aug. 9 Island City Music concert, my good friend Lori Bock embarrassed me by going off the MC’s script (that I write) to thank me for the work I do on our summer performances. Heck, she even got the band, Home Again, to sing a version of “Hats off to Larry,” which was nowhere near as good as the 1961 hit by Del Shannon.

It was a sweet thing for the president of ETC to do, and I promised to get even with her some day.

Yes, it’s a good bit of work managing the concert series, but it’s a labor of love for this old man who loves music, even though he can’t play or sing, and also loves the community, in which he found himself after a long career with newspapers from Detroit to Dallas to Minneapolis. A little over a year after we bought a home in Cumberland, I was inspired to produce concerts on Library Lake by a citizen initiative called “placemaking.”

I was invited to participate in that initiative by a fellow who no longer lives here and an organization that no longer exists. Brian Nieman, owner of a main street business called Wealth Management Group and president of the Cumberland Area Business Alliance (CABA), told me that CABA and other groups were going to work with the West Central Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission and other groups to do brainstorming on creating gathering places in The Island City.

The participants were divided into groups that looked at places in the city — called “nodes” — that could be enhanced to accommodate groups of residents and tourists. I was on the Library Lake node with Tom Schroeder, president of the Beaver Dam Lake Management District, and residents Jim Tempesta and Tom St. Angelo. We recommended that the area on the east side of the downtown lake become a park with music on the stages that had been used only once a year for Baga Fest.

Tempesta, a musician himself, actually organized a concert or two on the small Baga stage in the winter of 2015-16. He gathered up some barrels in which he burned wood to warm the area and played his guitar with some other musicians.

In the meantime, I was spending part of that winter in a Florida retirement community called The Villages, where old folks dance to live music every night of the year at three town squares. It’s great fun, kind of like returning to those nights in my youth when bands played at the roller rink in my hometown of Bay City, Mich.

When I returned, I talked to a friend named Tia Bismonte-Duncan, who liked the placemaking idea so much she created a Facebook page with information about community events. Tia, who owned a bed and breakfast in McKinley at the time, and I talked to the CABA board about getting some seed money to organize the concert series, got some local businesses to sponsor the bands and booked groups to perform on Tuesday evenings.

CABA’s treasurer, Jennifer Turcott, took in the sponsorship money and wrote checks for the band in that summer of 2016. Tia and Kelly, moved to the Green Bay area after a couple seasons of summer music, but not before we got Enrichment Through Culture, our arts council, to take on Island City Music.

So for the past five summers, ETC has presented and promoted performances on the Library Lake stage. I’ve been the point person on that project, but, truth be told, it’s not a lot of work to book bands and get sponsors. This community is overflowing with musical talent and generosity. I’ve even had businesses call me to ask if they can sponsor a band.

Each winter, I send out emails asking if bands want to play — and when — and to local companies and organizations that might want to sponsor. By spring, we’ve got every Tuesday booked and sponsored.

After the first season, people said it would be nice if we had food at the concerts. Tia met Judy Norton, who is active in the Barronett Civic Club, which has an old Louie’s brat wagon. Judy said the civic club would lend its Little Red Caboose, from which the civic club or local restaurants can serve food.

In the first two years, we were happy if 50 people came out on Tuesdays for the food and music. This summer, we regularly had 100 or more, with the Okee Dokee Brothers kids concert breaking our attendance record with about 500 folks of all ages on lawn chairs and blankets in the “back alley” behind the library.

Getting back to Ms. Bock’s embarrassing tribute, I should have stood and sung Hats off to Cumberland, this old small town with big-city talent, a village of 2,000 with an arts council, headed up by Lori, that presents music, plays and an annual art fair in a theater named for the Ruppel family that gave an old church to ETC, and in places around town, including Tourist Park, churches and the stage on Library Lake.

When I retired the first time at age 60, I struggled with retirement blues. So I went back to work for another six years. At 66, we bought a place on Beaver Dam Lake, and a retired librarian named Bock invited me to get involved with the arts in my new town.

At 75, I am busy producing and promoting events, even acting in plays, with other art-loving people in this art-loving town.

Last week, I took a walk through town with Dick Thorp, who grew up here but lives primarily in the Cities. On our walk, he pointed out landmarks in Cumberland, such as the coffee shop that used to be a pool hall and the bank that is now home to The Advocate. He recalled the fire that destroyed the grocery that stood where Dairy State Bank now stands. He showed me his collection of Cumberland postcards, and he talked about summer days on that magnificent lake on which I am lucky enough to live.

Sitting on my deck, looking at the waters of Beaver Dam on a postcard-perfect day, Dick Thorp said something I’ll never forget.

“I guess everyone thinks their town is special,” he said. “But this town is special.”

Sawyer L. Hagney, 24, of Stone Lake, has been charged with two counts of obstructing an officer and Avery L. Weaver, 28, of Spooner, has been charged with attempting to flee or elude and officer and obstructing or resisting an officer.

An officer, with the City of Chetek Police Department, reports on August 4, 2022, at approximately 1:45 am., she was on duty monitoring traffic from where she was parked in a church parking lot in Chetek. The officer reports she heard a vehicle accelerating and observed headlights coming south toward her location across the long bridge on Sumner Avenue. The officer reports the vehicle continued to accelerate as it passed her location. The officer estimates the vehicle was traveling at approximately 50 miles per hour in a 25 mile per hour zone, and continued to accelerate when it passed the church parking lot.

The officer reports she immediately activated the emergency lights and siren on her patrol squad and followed behind the vehicle. The officer reports she pursued the vehicle as it traveled onto Second Street from Sumner Avenue. The officer observed the vehicle fail to stop at the stop signs on Leonard Street. The vehicle then turned north on 6th Street and came to an abrupt stop near the address 1210 6th Street. Two males, one from the driver seat and one from the passenger seat, got out of the vehicle and fled on foot running east into the backyard of 1310 6th Street.

The officer reports she identified herself and yelled numerous times for the two male subjects to return to the vehicle with their hands up. The officer received no response.

The officer reports she returned to the vehicle and observed it to be running with its lights on. The officer observed skid marks behind each from tire where the vehicle skidded when it came to a stop. No other occupants were inside the vehicle.

The officer reports she ran the vehicle's registration through the Barron County Communications Center. The officer received return information that the registered owner was listed as Avery Weaver, the defendant.

The officer reports that an officer, with the Cameron Police Department, arrived on scene. The officer remained with the vehicle while the other officer went to the location where she heard dogs barking. The officer reports she observed two dogs and a male subject, who she later identified as Sawyer Hagney, in the driveway of 520 Leonard Street.

The officer reports she asked Hagney if he saw anyone running or any commotion. Hagney stated he did not see anything. The officer reports she observed Hagney's face was wet from sweat. The officer made additional observations that Hagney had urinated himself. Hagney's pants were wet between his legs down to his knees. The officer reports that Hagney stumbled and had slurred speech, and appeared to be intoxicated.

The officer reports Hagney told her he was sleeping the entire time and had gone to bed around midnight and was playing a game on Xbox. Hagney stated his buddy, and his buddy's brother, were inside.

The officer reports she walked the area where she observed the two male subjects running from the vehicle. The officer located a pair of sandals in the grass near the truck. Near the fence gate to the residence located at 1310 6th Street, the officer located a red cell phone. The backyard of 1310 6th Street is directly next to the backyard of 520 Leonard Street. The officer observed markings in the dust where it appeared to her that someone hopped the fence.

The officer reports she asked Hagney what his phone number was. Hagney gave the officer with the phone number for his phone, adding that his phone had a red case on it. The officer called the phone number that Hagney gave her and the red cell phone she located near the fence gate began to ring.

The officer reports, at this point, she detained Hagney. The officer reports she read a Statement of Rights to Hagney, who indicated he understood his rights and agreed to answer questions. Hagney stated he was in the vehicle, and that Weaver was driving. Hagney stated he did see the officer's patrol squad behind them, but there was no talking between him and Weaver while the officer was behind them. Hagney stated they were coming from a bar and had been driving back roads.

The officer reports that Hagney stated he knew they didn't stop at any of the stop signs they passed and didn't know why Weaver failed to stop, only that Weaver told him to just get out when they got back to the house. Hagney admitted he knew Weaver was in the house. Hagney pointed out the rear window on the east side of the house where Weaver's bedroom was located.

The officer reports she shouted through the bedroom window and front door for Weaver who she observed in the bedroom, to exit the house. Weaver refused to come out of the house. After speaking with another occupant in the house, Weaver did exit.

If convicted for attempting to flee or elude an officer Weaver may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than three years and six months or both. For obstructing or resisting an officer he may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than nine months or both.

If convicted for two counts of obstructing an officer, Hagney may be fined not more than $10,000 for each count or imprisoned not more than nine months or both.

Their initial appearances are scheduled for August 31, 2022.

“Christian Growth: Beholding the Glory of Christ”

by Pastor Jared Andrea Cumberland Baptist Church

No matter how many times you may have read a certain passage or verse in the Bible, there are times when God, in His grace, reveals more depth or gives clearer understanding (or both) and you think: “How did I not see this before?” This happened to me about a month ago when reading 2 Cor. 3:18: “And we all, with unveiled face, beholding the glory of the Lord, are being transformed into the same image from one degree of glory to another. For this comes from the Lord who is the Spirit.”

As I read this verse, I was struck with how clearly this captures much concerning Christian growth. This verse tells us that growth is a privilege, a process, and is produced by the Lord.

First, it is a privilege. If we are in Christ, the truth of the gospel is no longer veiled to us; satan no longer blinds our eyes, but God has opened our eyes to see His glory (i.e. the greatness, “the splendor” of who He is) revealed in Christ. By the grace of God, we have come to see the glory of God in Christ Jesus (see 2 Cor. 4:6)

Second, growth in Christ is a process. We grow as we behold the glory of God in Christ. The more you look at and learn about Christ, who He is and all that He has accomplished, the more you’ll become like Christ. Beholding the glory of the Lord in Christ is the means by which you will be “...transformed into the same image from one degree of glory to another.”

Third, our growth is from the Lord. The Father saved us by the blood of His Son and opened our eyes by the Spirit to behold the glory of Christ the Savior. The Spirit continues to fix our eyes on the glory of God revealed in Jesus as revealed in the truth of Scripture and, by this, He conforms us to Christ. One day Christ will present His church to Himself as a beautiful bride (see Eph. 5:27). There is no secret to Christian growth. God has made it plain to us in 2 Cor. 3:18. Behold the glory of God in Christ and you will be transformed by His glory. Behold Christ and become more like him.

DHS Urges COVID-19 Vaccination for a Healthy School Year

As the 2022-2023 school year begins, the Wisconsin Department of Health Services (DHS) urges parents and guardians to get their children vaccinated against COVID-19. DHS also encourages anyone planning to attend in-person classes at a college or university to stay up to date on their COVID-19 vaccines.

“Our mission as we approach the school year is to ensure that every student and our dedicated educators and staff can stay safe, healthy, and in school,” said DHS Deputy Secretary Deb Standridge. “A critical part of making this possible is ensuring that everyone is vaccinated against COVID-19. Even as new variants emerge, the COVID-19 vaccines continue to do their job of preventing serious illness that can lead to hospitalization and even death. We urge all parents and guardians to help protect our school communities and protect their children against the virus.”

Everyone 6 months and older is eligible to receive vaccination against COVID-19. Nearly 389,000 Wisconsin school-age youth ages 5 to 17 have already received their primary series of a COVID-19 vaccine. However, approximately 75% of Wisconsin 5-to-11-year-olds and about 40% of 12-to-17-year-olds are not fully vaccinated against COVID-19. COVID-19 vaccines remain available to all Wisconsinites at no cost.

2022 Recycling Excellence Awards; Nominations Now Open

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is currently accepting nominations for the 2022 Recycling Excellence Awards now through Sept. 16.

Communities, organizations, schools and businesses are eligible and encouraged to apply for recognition of outstanding recycling or waste minimization initiatives. The DNR offers the Recycling Excellence Awards to recognize efforts and share innovative ideas with a broad audience to improve waste management practices.

One of the goals identified in A Blueprint for DNR Climate Action 2021-2025 is to reduce per-capita food waste disposed of in Wisconsin landfills by half by 2030 (from 2020 levels). Please note that food waste recovery or diversion programs are eligible for Recycling Excellence Awards.

Awards are offered in four categories: overall program; projects and initiatives; innovation; and special events. Entities of any size may nominate themselves or submit an application on behalf of another program. Applicants are encouraged to submit supporting materials such as outreach samples, data/graphs and high-resolution photos.

Find more information about the categories, past awards and a nomination form on the Wisconsin Recycling Excellence Awards webpage.

What Can We Hunt? DNR To Host Next Hunting Webinar Aug. 31

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will host the second of several educational hunting webinars on Wednesday, Aug. 31 for members of the public that are new to hunting or curious about hunting.

The webinar series is in partnership with the National Wild Turkey Federation, Pheasants Forever and Becoming an Outdoorswoman. The series is designed for those interested in learning about hunting, fishing and trapping.

Each episode will feature guest speakers sharing their experiences getting started with hunting and include discussions addressing common challenges faced by those new to hunting, fishing or trapping.

This month's webinar – Wanna Go Hunting: What Can We Hunt? – covers the wide variety of hunting opportunities available in Wisconsin and basic equipment needs to get started.

“Wisconsin is fortunate to be home to many wildlife species that provide a sustainable source of food and fur. Regulated management of these species ensures their populations will continue to thrive in the future,” said Bob Nack, DNR Recruitment, Retention and Reactivation Team Supervisor. “Attendees will learn about Wisconsin's huntable species, where to find them and the basic equipment needs to get started.”

Following a brief presentation and panel discussion, the audience will have opportunities to ask questions that panelists will answer at the end of the program. Each webinar will be recorded and available online.

From small to big game, Wisconsin has something for everyone to get outdoors and pursue this fall. Time spent with family and friends in our woodlands, grasslands and wetlands will generate memories for years to come.

Learn more about various hunting season dates, rules and regulations, harvest quotas and more on the DNR website.

Henry Samuel Comstock was born in Indianapolis, Indiana, in 1858. He attended school there until the age of 15 and then began to teach. He would soon begin the study of law in Arcadia, Wisconsin, at the office of E.C. Higbee, who would go on to become a Circuit Court Judge in La Crosse.

Comstock would enter the University of Wisconsin, where in 1883, at the age of 25, he graduated with a Law Degree. That same year, Comstock joined his mentor in a partnership firm called, Higbee and Comstock.

In 1884, he left his home in Buffalo County and moved to Barron. The following year, Judge Comstock moved to Cumberland, which became his permanent home.

Comstock found immediate success in the area, becoming Barron District Attorney in 1886 and being named County Judge in 1889. During this time period, he became friends with Robert LaFollette, a District Attorney in Dane County. Comstock was deeply interested in politics throughout his life and supported LaFollette as he made three different runs for State Governor.

In 1900, LaFollette won the position as the State's Governor and asked Comstock to become one of his legal advisors. Resigning his position as Barron County Judge, he became a Special Counsel to LaFollette heavily involved in real estate. At one time, he owned parcels of land exceeding 6,000 acres in the Cumberland area.

During his free time, he enjoyed fishing. He once said “Ducking oneself in the icy spring waters of a trout stream will cure almost any ailment to which humans are heir.”

His love of fishing led him to help stock fish fry in lakes throughout the Cumberland area.

In 1926, after serving as Cumberland City Attorney, Comstock returned to the position of Barron County Judge. During this time, he saw one of his most important roles as providing aid to dependent children. He had a great love of children and although he did not have any of his own, he adopted Lee Youngman, the son of his wife, Julia Youngman Comstock.

It was said, “He had no greater satisfaction than coming from the successes of this young man. He was also a fatherly figure to his niece and nephew, Henry Harding and Mrs. Russell Smith.” Unfortunately, Julia would pass away in November of 1926.

By 1936, his own health began to fail and he attended court only once a week. He passed away at his home on April 15 of that year.

His funeral service was held at the Methodist Church and pall bearers included some of Cumberland’s oldest residents including GG Hodgkin, August Wolff and R.E. Hopkins. He was buried next to his wife in Lakeside Cemetery.

The Advocate said of his death, “His demise leaves a void impossible to fill as thousands mourn his departure.” Among his lasting legacy will always be Comstock, the community named after this “Island City” pioneer.

The Cumberland High School Volleyball Team opened up practice on Monday under new Head Coach, Erin Miller. Miller replaces Teri Lesnar, who helped lead the Beavers to a 6 and 3 record in the HON last season, good for a three-way tie for third place. Miller will be assisted by Beth McClain, Kristen Larson, and Michelle Dahlberg.

Football Team Opens Their Season This Friday

The Beavers held a scrimmage in rainy weather last Friday as they prepared for the opener. "Our varsity team did some good things despite the wet conditions. We need to play with relentless effort, do a better job of playing until the whistle. We got an opportunity to see some of our less-experienced players at the speed of a varsity game so from that standpoint the scrimmage was beneficial," said Head Coach Corey Berghammer. He added, "Our linemen Garrett Craine, Dylan Capra, Lucas Simon, Jack Chafer, Bryce Col-

The Cumberland Cross Country Team had their first workout on Monday, with all eyes pointing towards a multi-team opener in Grantsburg on Thursday, August 25. Joining the team members is new Head Coach, Wilbur Rosenow, who worked with the Middle School last fall. He had previously been an Assistant Cross Country Coach at Glenwood City prior to coming to the School District last year.

An Outdoorsman's Journal

by Mark Walters

The Closing of a Chapter

Hello friends,
This week's column is going to be all over the map but centered around one thought, and that is memories and what has taken place since my life partner Michelle Chiaro who was an ICU nurse at the Aurora hospital in Hartford passed away unexpectedly on June 15th.
I have been blessed since Michelle's passing by literally hundreds, probably 400, kind acts by friends, neighbors, family and readers of this column and I want to say thank you!
My family held the first Celebration of Life for Michelle, and it was a campfire/picnic event at our home, Michelle would have loved it.
On July 15th Michelle's coworkers had a picnic at Pike Lake State Park near Hartford, it was six hours long and planned so that both day and night shift could come. I bought hunting and fishing pictures as well as her crossbow and a beautiful dress that we had a family portrait taken in. Again, Michelle would have been so proud.
I hate to touch on this subject, and I know that I will heal but I am a mess, and honesty feel like I have lost my mojo.
Michelle was addicted to the outdoors and was a horse woman before I came along but she immediately got into anything outdoors. Last year she shot her first turkey and was getting a full mount on what is the biggest bird that I have ever called in for someone. My good friend Todd Krueger at Todd's Taxidermy is doing the mount and I was going to surprise Michelle with it in our living room.
Last Thursday I headed down to Little Italy, Arkansas which is where Michelle's family is from and where her final and largest ceremony would be held. The drive was quite the adventure in The Chevy Hotel as I had bought Red along and for the first 400-miles she had diarrhea. The air conditioning does not work and let me tell you, it was steamy in Arkansas Michelle's funeral was Saturday, and I was given the honor of being one of the speakers. I was a wreck for days but pulled it off and one of the stories that I told was of how Michelle saved the life of my golden retriever Ruby when she was giving birth back in April. We kept a pup that that I named Red, but she wanted to name Rosey. While speaking to all of her many friends and family I told the story and announced that Red's AKC name would be Rosey Red Chiaro.

Michelle had many people travel for this day and it was cool to visit with her former classmates from Good Council Elementary School and Mount St. Mary's Catholic High School out of Little Rock. Of all the people on the face of this earth I have never met a person that people liked, loved, and admired as much as Michelle. There were nurses representing hospitals from all over the United States where she had worked.
I also think I should mention that this was a 3-day event as it was St. Francis of Assisi's Catholic Church's 100 year Centennial in this incredible community which made Michelle's celebration three days of good people spending time together. Deacon Chris Dorer, you are loved by your community.
I have written about what was becoming an addiction concerning her desire to hunt, fish, and camp with me. During the grave side ceremony, I was quite possibly given the largest honor of my life when I saw that her parents who I feel very close to, Vince and Tony Chiaro had made the decision to put a fish a turkey and a deer on her headstone.
There is not a minute that I don't miss her!

Peterson Brothers!

John Peterson

Ben Peterson

S p o r t s Look Back, August 17, 1972

John and Ben Peterson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson of Comstock, and former CHS wrestling stars, will be competing in the XX Olympiad in Munich, Germany, opening August 26th. They are both members of the U.S. Olympic Freestyle Wrestling Team.
They left for Washington D.C., on Tuesday. Following some special instructions on Olympic protocol and greetings by President Richard Nixon, they will leave for Germany on Thursday, August 17.
The Peterson brothers won Olympic trials in Anoka, MN., two weeks ago. Both also tried out for the 1968 team by entering the River Falls district tournament. John, then a freshman at Stout State University, came in fourth in his weight and failed to qualify for the national trials. Ben, a 17 year-old high school boy, surprised the experts by winning the district championship to qualify for the U.S. team trials. Anderson-Thomson Post 98, American Legion Cumberland, sponsored Ben and his coach, Jack Walsh, to the Olympic tryouts in Ames, Iowa. Ben was eliminated in the second round but he was so impressive that he won a scholarship to Iowa State University.
Ben went on to become one of the all-time Cyclone wrestling greats. He was a three time Big Eight Champ, three time NCAA place winner, and twice national champion.
John had quite a career at Stout State. He won the conference championship three times and was a NAIA place winner.

Island City Pioneers: Dr. G. A. Grinde by Mark Fuller

As the settlement of Cumberland began in the 1870s, the life expectancy of Americans stood near 45. Diseases and epidemics included long-standing threats like smallpox, typhus, yellow fever, and scarlet fever, while other bacterial infections included diphtheria, measles, whooping cough scarlet fever and tuberculosis. Infant mortality rates were high, while respiratory infections caused many deaths, mostly attributed to bronchitis or pneumonia. This doesn't cover the logging accidents that claimed an occasional victim.
Those in the medical field were critical to one's survival. The Island City was lucky to have individuals such as Dr. W. C. Pease, Dr. W. B. Hopkins, and Dr. I. G. Babcock settle and become part of the early Cumberland community. Another of those individuals, who falls into that category was, Dr. George Allen Grinde.
Grinde was born in DeForest, Wisconsin in 1880 and following graduation from the University of Illinois Medical School came to Cumberland in 1908, joined by his wife Bertha Thoe Grinde. They would have four children, Iva, Harold, Irene and Gertrude.
This would begin a period of 28 continuous years in the city as a surgeon and general practitioner. His work as a surgeon won acclaim and it was said of him, "He is one of the most outstanding physicians in NW Wisconsin." He quickly joined Hopkins as the city's two busiest doctors.
He would have an office on the Hines Block and his interest in providing the best medical care for our residents led him to purchase the W. N. Fuller residence, where he established Cumberland's first hospital in 1916.
Dr. Grinde hired a crew of carpenters to add an addition on the second floor, which became the operating room. The facility had room for eight patients, with the dining room offering room for two more in an emergency. He would perform 137 operations the first year in the new "Island City Hospital."

By 1918, the first hospital was already too small to "Prevent proper care for all the patients." Grinde then purchased a larger property on Grove Street that would serve the community for the next 38 years. The Advocate said of the new facility, "The new quarters are beautifully located and will make a fine home for the institution and a great benefit to the community."
In 1921, he formed a partnership with Dr. S.O. Lund. Later on, Dr. R. C. Thompson and his cousin John Grinde were added to the staff. Always trying to improve his craft, Grinde spent time in both England and France where he took Postgraduate Courses in Surgery.
The Advocate would say of Dr. Grinde, "He is a leader in civic affairs, generous in his giving, a devoted husband and father, and a kind neighbor and a true and loyal friend." Among his other contributions to the city, Grinde was President and Director of Northwestern State Bank, President of the City's Businessmen, Director of the Upper Wisconsin Association for Road Improvement and contributed generously in building and maintaining the Norwegian Lutheran Church. He was also a member of both the Wisconsin and American Medical Associations.
His wife Bertha died in 1933 and he was married to Helen Cole for a short time before she also passed away in 1936. Grinde became quite sick himself with heart issues, but continued to work. The Advocate would say of the Doctor, "Few people know how great is his physical handicap or what courageous fight he makes to serve those who need him."

He would perform his last operation in the hospital he created in October of 1936 and after spending several weeks in hospitals in both Minneapolis and Rochester, returned home for a week before passing away in December of that year at the age of 56.
The Advocate would say of his passing, "The entire community is shocked by his death. It can be directly traced back to years of unstintingly giving himself to the patients and those in need of his assistance without regard to his own health."
As a sign of respect for his contributions, every business in town was closed during his funeral at the Norwegian Lutheran Church. An overflow crowd attended as an overflow stood outside or went into the Swedish Lutheran Church next door. The paper would say, "The crowd certainly far exceeded that ever held in Cumberland. So long a line of cars followed the casket to its final resting place, that the last ones were just leaving the church when the first reached the cemetery."
A final tribute to Dr. Grinde appeared on the front page of the paper that next week. It read, "The bare details of his life can give no indication of the warmth and the vibrancy of his personality. They are merely milestones in a life's journey, all too brief, but filled to the utmost with deeds of service, charity, sacrifice and a life lived to its fullest capacity. He was a doctor to his patients and brother to all mankind."
